A Million Men and Women See Thompson Inducted into Office.

Great Parade of the People Rejoicing Over the Turn of the Tide.

Prosperity the Keynote of an Occasion Long to be Remembered.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 26.—Prosperity's boosters, ardent, mounted and riding in floats, gorgeously decorated, ribboned, garlanded and otherwise festooned, thronged the city streets to witness the inauguration of Mayor William Hale Thompson, while crowds estimated at 1,000,000 looked on and shouted their approval. It was a magnificent tribute to the Republican party for the return of prosperity. There were 10,000 automobiles in the parade which was fifteen miles long, and took four hours to pass a given point. It was probably the greatest demonstration of any American city.

At the head of the procession, carrying a Bible, a giant float of milk was one of the first unique floats in the procession.

The Chinese of Chicago made a spectacular appearance, 100 appearing in oriental costumes, with typical banners and music. Frank May and other leaders followed in automobiles. Several cars contained Chinese women in native dress, who smiled quaintly at the cheering onlookers.

South Western street merchants, men particularly affected by the Democratic had times, scored a hit with several large floats on which bananas and oranges at the multitude. The fruit showers were following by trays bearing attractive fruit, a small horse being trucked and maneuvered and decorated with small flags and ribbons.

From trains and interurban cars crowds of out-of-town prosperity boomers poured forth to swell Chicago's throngs. Among the visitors were delegations of city officials from Elgin, Lyons, Aurora and other Illinois cities, all of whom stated they would bury the Democrats of their districts at the next elections.

That Chicago boasts a keynote for Republican prosperity enthusiasm throughout the United States in the form of parades and other civic demonstrations, was shown by telegrams received by Chief Marshal E. C. Roney from business organizations in other cities. It is predicted that before May has passed the tribute will have swept across the country from New York to San Francisco.

Not since the days of the World's Fair has there been such a parade in the United States. If President Wilson's theory that "prosperity is psychological" is true, then the horn of plenty has been emptied at the feet of those who would feast.

It was difficult for the average mind to grasp the stupendousness of the great political demonstration. Figures give no adequate idea of it. As for the parade itself, there was so much to see and to be seen that before it had been moving an hour the minds of most of those who were viewing it had become confused. When it is remembered that thousands of Chicago's business houses and factories had taken advantage of the demonstration to prove that the Republican victory had brought a respite from the depression, it is not surprising that the city was so full of joy.

Every street car for hours before the parade was jammed with people. An elevated train was crowded and every suburban train—full pouring through the Loop—was jammed with people. The Loop has seen great crowds in its day, but probably never a bigger one than that of today.

Probably never before in its history has a larger crowd than that of this afternoon been seen in Chicago. Conservative estimates put the figure at 1,000,000 persons jammed into the Loop and along Michigan avenue. Other estimates were from 750,000 to 1,000,000 persons on the streets. Traffic was blocked; street cars had to be rerouted. Mr. Thompson officially took his seat in the Council chamber tonight.

"UNCLE JOE" AS A DANCER.

Waltzes at the Exposition in Fulfillment of a Promise.

BY A. P. MONT WIRE.] SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—Congressman Joseph G. Cannon of Illinois, kept tonight a promise made five years ago by dancing a waltz in the New York State Building at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. The former Speaker is a member of a Congressional party en route to the Hawaiian Islands. The promise was given at the time San Francisco and New Orleans were fighting for the possession of the exposition. Mr. Cannon, then Speaker of the House, declared that if San Francisco should be selected as its site he would visit the grounds and participate in a Virginia reel tonight, after a banquet given in honor of the Congressional party by Senator James D. Phelan of California. "Uncle Joe" was reminded of his promise which he fulfilled at once. Knowing to a slightly bruised knee a waltz was substituted for the more strenuous "hoe down." Congressman Cannon will celebrate his 79th birthday anniversary on May 7.

WAR BABIES AS A DANGER.

ENGLISH CHURCH OFFICIALS ARE SOMEWHAT DISTURBED.

Archbishop of Canterbury and York, with several titled women, have started an investigation in London to learn the nature and extent of the danger.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.] LONDON, April 26.—"The war babies" question is to be investigated. A communication issued tonight at Lambeth Palace, the arch-bishop's residence, said that the Archbishop of Canterbury and York, with several titled women, have started an investigation in London to learn the nature and extent of the danger.

ALLIES' LINE IS HOLDING FAST AGAINST GERMAN ONSLAUGHTS.

"Enemy Repulsed," Text of the British Report, Despite the Use of Asphyxiating Gases.

Losses Very Heavy on All Sides in Tremendous Battle for Calais—Mastery Counter-attack of the Invaders Wins the Praise of the Military Observers—London Fears a New Surprise is in Store.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 26, 11:15 p.m.—The British War Office has issued the following statement respecting the battle around Ypres:

"First—severe fighting to the northeast of Ypres still continues, the general situation remaining unchanged. Our left flank in readjusting its line to meet the altered conditions due to the original forced retirement of the French had to face to the north and to extend to the west beyond St. Julien. This extension weakened our line for a time and, after a gallant resistance by the Canadians against superior numbers, St. Julien was captured by the enemy. Our lines now run south of that place.

"Second—Our troops to the east of Ypres have borne the brunt of repeated heavy attacks, which they have stubbornly opposed through the battle in an entirely unexpected situation, which has demanded the exercise of gallantry and fortitude by the men and quick resource and other military qualities by their commanders.

"Third—Attacks also were delivered yesterday by the Germans on the east of the Ypres salient. In spite of the use by the enemy of asphyxiating gases, the attacks were repulsed and German officers and men were captured.

"In the fighting during the last three days we have inflicted very heavy casualties on the Germans. Our losses also have been heavy. The German wireless report that four English heavy guns were captured is untrue.

"One of our aviators dropped bombs on the Courtrai station this afternoon and destroyed the junction. Although wounded he brought his machine safely back to our lines."

LONDON, April 26, 10:30 p.m.—The tremendous battle begun by the German attack on the allied army front around Ypres in the plains of Flanders continues with undiminished fury, and England, like the rest of Europe, is awaiting the outcome with undiminished anxiety.

Even the news that the allied fleet and army have commenced an attack on the Dardanelles and that troops are advancing against the Turkish intrenchments, which a few days ago would have aroused intense enthusiasm, has received only passing attention in the face of the stakes that are in the balance in the battle which is being fought beyond the English channel.

While the majority of those capable of forming an opinion believe that the Germans have been giving careful consideration to the alleged probability of their being during the war an increase in the number of illegitimate births, and have requested small committees of ladies, in conjunction with the National Union of Women Workers, to investigate the nature and extent of the danger.

GREAT VICTORY FOR AUSTRILIANS.

Russian Troops Driven Out of Their Ostry Fastness.

Charge Like that of Federals at Lookout Mountain.

Battle is Still Under Way in Usok Pass Sector.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

BERLIN, April 26. (via London, 9 a.m.)—The storming by Austrian troops of Ostry Mountain, to the north of Beskid pass, which was reported in the Austrian official bulletin issued yesterday, is described by the Tagblatt correspondent in the Carpathians as one of the most brilliant feats of mountain fighting during the war.

Ostry Mountain, with its sister height, Swinnin Mountain, which was stormed April 9, dominates the road and the railroad from Munkacs to Lemberg. It is approximately 3500 feet high and has precipitous sides. The Russians, working incessantly for months, had converted the mountain into a natural fortress with rows of trenches and machine gun positions rising one above the other, and it apparently was impregnable.

The position, however, the correspondent says, was deemed indispensable in order to open the way for an invasion of Galicia and relieve pressure on Usok pass and on the positions further to the west. Orders were given to take it at any cost.

After a day's fighting, the Russians, according to the correspondent, dashed from their positions and charged up the precipitous height. Position after position was captured by storm. Guns in the Austrian lines, torn by machine gun fire, closed automatically as successive waves of troops moved upward to success, which the writer says, "like the federal charge at Lookout Mountain, probably was beyond the expectations of the commanders, and the summit was occupied."

The Russians resisted bravely and 100 men were left dead or wounded in the occupied trenches.

The German troops, under Gen. Hoffmann's command, meanwhile had cleared the heights to the west of the mountain top.

The success, the Tagblatt correspondent telegraphs, gives the Austrians and Germans complete control of the Ostry Valley and advances the Austro-Hungarian line east of Usok pass twenty kilometers (about eleven miles) into Galician territory.

The weather in the Carpathians is now full spring and it is having the most inspiring effect upon the troops. Russian corpses are being buried by the melting snow, poison the atmosphere and cause the only drawback.

Rain and floods still continue in Southern Galicia and Bukovina, greatly hampering operations. The Russian and Austrian lines at some places are separated by three kilometers of inundated country.

THE CARPATHIAN BATTLE. (BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.) VIENNA, (via London) April 26, 8:46 p.m.—The following official statement was issued by the War Office today:

"In the Carpathians, in the sector east of Usok pass, the fighting continues. We captured yesterday a new Russian position to the southeast of Kowlow, taking several officers and more than a thousand men prisoners. In order to regain the heights which they had lost the Russians made several counter attacks, and also attacked the neighboring districts, especially the height of Ostry and a position to the east of Ostry. All the attacks were repulsed with heavy losses. Two Russian battalions were almost completely annihilated and 100 prisoners were taken.

"Our troops pursuing the enemy, occupied twenty-six Russian trenches, which contained much war material. The Russians before Usok pass, after their attack failed, retreated in full

RECENT FLIGHT OVER LOWESTOFT MOUNTAIN.

Bombs Dropped by the German Pilot did Small Damage, Though He Swept His Machine Over the City Two or Three Times and Stayed About an Hour.

ITS FIRST TRIP.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

LOWESTOFT (Eng.) April 11.—A tour by motorcycle over the path which the latest Zeppelin raid took across and around this section of England, supports the opinion that he had no particular military object in view. The big dirigible first was sighted about midnight and disappeared over Lowestoft about an hour later. It made a tour over a considerable area, dropping a large number of incendiary bombs and a few explosive bombs, but spending nearly half its time maneuvering in the neighborhood of Fresham Hall, a rambling old mansion, now used as a hospital for wounded soldiers. It is possible the pilot mistook the hall for some other building which he supposed to be of military importance.

The dropping of the numerous incendiary bombs appears to have been done in an effort to set fire to barns and haystacks which would illuminate the landscape and enable the pilot to locate some landmark by which he could get his bearings.

Dispatches from Holland quote German naval officials as stating the Zeppelin used for this raid was a new one and the trip was in the nature of a test. Overseas navigation is an art only now being mastered, and it is possible the visit to this section had little significance except as training for pilots.

The raid passed over Lowestoft two or three times, a calm night making maneuvering easy. A fire bomb which fell into a pile of timber did damage estimated at $5000. (Times) and the trip was in the nature of a test. JAPS EXPLAIN TO THEIR ALLY.

London Hears They Mean to do no Wrong in China.

Britons Feel Relieved, Wilson Resting a Bit Easier.

Six Companies Demanding Fair Play for Republic.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The Japanese government has given to Great Britain a detailed explanation of the demands made upon China which, according to information obtainable here, is said to have relieved apprehension in London as to the scope of the Japanese policy in China.

The report today from Peking that the conference had been resumed and that Japan now had presented twenty-four demands, including the original twenty-one demands, was received with much interest in Washington, but officials had no advice from the Chinese capital of any character. The last dispatches received last Saturday indicated that the conference would not be resumed for some time.

It was expected that American minister Reischner probably would return tomorrow the result of the renewal of the parley.

Neither the Japanese Embassy nor any of the other diplomatic missions concerned in the negotiations were advised of the situation at Peking today. From a knowledge of previous conferences, however, it was suggested in some quarters that Japan might have asked for an acceptance in principle of her demands, leaving details to be worked out later.

Now that the subject has been discussed with Great Britain, the United States and other powers, some observers think Japan may have renewed the plan to obtain China's approval in principle to the demands.

With such an acceptance it was thought Japan might not be disposed to press for a detailed agreement on many of the points, but rather to have the present negotiations stand as an expression to the world of Japan's intentions in China.

The report from Peking that some of the railroad concessions now demanded by Japan were of a "sphere of influence" nature, was taken as evidence that Great Britain in the Yangtze Valley was being asked to give up its special rights.

Since Japan's assurances were received here in the answer to the recent American note of inquiry, some officials have been of the belief that a satisfactory adjustment of the Japanese-Chinese questions eventually would be reached, though prolonged negotiations might be necessary.

There has been little evidence of a crisis although the serious character of the negotiations has not been underestimated here and officials are keeping closely informed as to developments.

FAIR PLAY IS DEMANDED. (BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.) SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—The State Department was asked today to have fair play in the negotiations with Japan, and to secure protection for China, in a letter sent to Secretary W. J. Bryan by a representative of the Six Companies, which are said to have a membership of 24,000 Chinese in North and South America.

The letter follows an appeal to the Hague Tribunal sent by the same organization.

The letter says: "Arising out of very grave questions raised by the European war, the empire of Japan is making intolerable demands upon the Republic of China. Although they are keeping in concert with the diplomatic representatives of the Chinese Republic, feel a natural interest in seeing their home country protected against unreasonable demands. China as a republic looks to the United States for friendly interest and protection. Notwithstanding the many laws passed in this country

Heavy Coast Battery is Magnificent Spectacle.

(A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.)

CHIANAK KALESSI, Tuesday, March 23.—It takes courage of the highest order to handle the guns in a fort under bombardment, especially when the bombardment is the work of a fleet armed with the latest of long-range, large-caliber guns, as has been the case here recently.

A heavy coast artillery battery in action presents a magnificent spectacle. When the ships of the antagonist come within range an observation officer calls the men to their stations. The men then take their places at the gun.

Commands begin to be heard: "Pieces number so and so ready for fire." One of the men on the floor of the emplacement wheels large shells to the foot of the ammunition hoist and hooks the thing, carriage and all, to the hoist itself.

It is carried into position and a man on the platform seizes it, and with a mighty driving swing, shoves it into the chamber. From the left a man produces a large can of "fixed ammunition"—enough high explosive to blow up everybody in the emplacement.

A shell from the enemy explodes nearby. Nobody seems to care. The can of explosive follows the shell into the recesses of the gun. The block of exploded powder and shell and charge handlers step aside.

The distance to the target—the target is a ship—is repeated. The long barrel elevates itself as if it were a sentient thing, describing at the same time a slight sweep sideways. Then it stops.

The man on the platform as yet is not satisfied. The gun turns his head to the Germans, but found three French howitzers which the Germans had taken. These the Canadians blew up and rendered useless.

"At one point we surrounded sixty Germans, fifty-five of whom we bayoneted," he continued. "I saw one German officer blow out his brains."

"It is impossible to estimate the number of Germans who were killed. Our men searched all night trying to locate them."

"We had the Prussian guards in front of us."

HOUSE STICKS TO FREE EATS.

Bill to Smoke Out the Lobbyist is Defeated.

Pests Still Remain Through Aid of Administration.

Brown's Herculean Efforts All to No Purpose.

(BY DIRECT WIRE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
SACRAMENTO, April 26.—There are more lobbyists in Sacramento during this session, there are more automobiles and more wine dinners than in any year before that I have attended sessions of the Legislature. It is high time that we adopt such salutary legislation as has enabled other states to rid themselves of similar pests.

This vigorous denunciation by Assemblyman Henry Ward Brown, dean of the point of years of service of the 1915 Legislature, failed to win enough Assemblymen to secure the passage of a bill requiring all hired lobbyists to register with the Secretary of State and to file a sworn statement at the close of each session concerning the pay they have received for the legislative work and from whom.

In his closing address, which was unimpaired somewhat by the evident hostility of the administration members to his bill, Brown charged them with arraying themselves against a reform measure which bore the approval of former President Roosevelt, of Folk of Missouri, of La Follette and that is now on the statute books of sixteen States.

A FEW COMPARISONS.
"Men stand on the floor of this house," continued Brown, "and land themselves as a reform Legislature while talking of alleged corrupt bodies that have gone before them. I served in this house before some of you had reached high school, and I have seen almost continuously since; and I am proud to assert that the Legislature of those days was more honest, more upright, more manly, more brilliant than the Legislature of those days to the point of common honesty, with very few exceptions, compare favorably with any of those of recent years."

"How many junketing trips on recreation, on food control and other similar projects have been made at the expense of the parties interested by members of this Legislature? How many of you have discussed the merits of a bill over a fine dinner and a bottle of wine with the men who are financially interested in its passage?"

"When an attorney comes here representing five different railroad lines, I want to know just what measures he represents those lines and I want him to be compelled to file an affidavit at the end of each session, setting forth just what he received for such representation."

"Then, when men come here purporting to represent certain unions for certain measures, I want him to file his name with the Secretary of State, setting forth just what unions he represents and what pay he receives for his work. When men are paid to lobby, we have a right to know who pays them and what they receive. Eighteen other States have passed a law similar to this; why are we backing away at this time from reform legislation?"

THE SOLID FORTY-FIVE.
Assemblyman Carver asserted that he would vote for the measure provided it would extend to every arm of the government as well as to outside parties.

"I should desire to see in it," he said, "a section that would make it a felony for a State employee, elective or appointive, to say to a member of the Legislature, you cannot, or you will favor from the administration if you vote against a certain measure."

The union labor assembly opposed the measure, but the State Board of Equalization, which is the body that enforces the measure, is in their opinion, sufficient. On roll call the solid forty-five of nonpartisan notoriety voted it down.

While the discussion was taking place in the Assembly, a similar attack against free feeds, drinks and junketing trips was launched by the Senate. The measure was largely defeated in the Senate today, 14 yeas and 24 nays, after a fight that ran through most of the day.

Although Kehee gave notice of a motion for reconsideration it is considered that the bill is dead and the sharpest insurance fight of the session settled. For weeks the Board of Fire Underwriters has waged a strenuous battle against the bill, and Senate desks have been flooded with telegrams and letters. The San Francisco delegates voted solidly against the bill and the Los Angeles delegation, except Cogswell, for it.

Senators Wolfe and Campbell led the fight against the bill. Wolfe declared such a law would discourage the insurance companies and get the State out of business. Campbell said that it would be a blow to the insurance companies and get the State out of business.

mal School, provided in bills by Lucas, was recommended by the Finance Committee, and an appropriation of $10,000 to build a shop and boat ways for the naval militia at San Diego, and $10,000 for a bridge across the Colorado River at Needles, Assurance of the passage of the bills is given by a custom recognizing the committee's action as virtually final.

ARCATA CUT DOWN.
Instead of $112,000 for new buildings asked by Humboldt county for the State Normal School at Arcata, the Finance Committee voted to allow an appropriation of only $25,000. On account of financial stringency it was decided that new permanent buildings could not be built this year.

SAN FRANCISCO GETS MORE.
Appropriation bills by Senator George, asking $8000 for the San Francisco State Normal School, were passed by the Finance Committee to $11,000. Senator George, chairman, said a visit to the school had convinced him of the immediate necessity of large improvements in the buildings.

STATE TAX REVISION.
An appropriation of $175,000 for a thorough revision of the tax system of the State, looking forward to a complete revision of the tax system of the State, was approved tonight by the passage of a bill by Senator Thompson. The bill permits the Governor to employ experts on taxation who shall report to the 1917 Legislature.

COUNTY JAIL REFORM.
County jails in which sanitary conditions are deemed to be very bad may be condemned by the State Board of Charities and Corrections, under a bill by Senator Jones that was passed tonight. The bill gives power to enforce a regulation that county jails shall contain four distinct departments: the county jail, the county workhouse, the county hospital and the county infirmary.

SALARIES RAISED.
The Senate approved the Merced county government bill in which salaries of the Board of Supervisors will be raised from $400 to $1200 a year.

IN THE ASSEMBLY.
THIRTY-THREE BILLS PASSED.
(BY A. P. HUGHES WIRE.)
SACRAMENTO, April 26.—Night sessions will be held by the Assembly tonight. The Assembly will consider a bill to amend the law relating to the election of judges, and a bill to amend the law relating to the election of judges.

DISQUALIFIED JUDGE ACT.
The right of a disqualified judge to name who shall sit in his place is removed by the terms of a bill by Senator Grady, which was passed tonight. It requires that a judge named either by the Governor, the presiding judge or the judges of the court, agreeable to both parties in a civil action.

OTHER BILLS PASSED.
Among other bills passed were the following:
By Jones—Requiring fathers of illegitimate children to contribute to their support.
By Finn—Making automobiles a personal property lien to protect pawn owners against loss from unpaid bills.

FOUR MORE HOLIDAYS.
Four more school holidays were made by the Senate today. Making Washington's Birthday, Admission Day, Labor Day and the day following Washington's legal holidays, was passed.

NEW LAND LAW.
A series of three measures by Senator Irwin affecting reclamation districts was passed. One bill provides that in the case of subdivision of any tract of land after an assessment has been made, the proportion of the assessment shall be made according to the benefits derived; another provides for notice to the land owner, when an original assessment is levied in any reclamation district. The third bill requires that all warrants shall be paid by the trustees without the necessity of having them approved by Boards of Supervisors, except that in the case of warrants drawn in favor of the trustees and warrants in excess of $50.

NEW COMMISSION CREATED.
An annual saving to the State of $150,000 is expected to be accomplished through the creation of a new commission, which will control all purchases of materials and supplies, as provided in a bill by Assemblyman Gehlbach, passed today. Under the present system of purchase by local boards, subject to approval of the Board of State Purchasing Agents, the State has expended $1,700,000. The department will be headed by a State purchasing agent at a salary of $1400.

FLAG OVER THE SCHOOL.
A keener spirit of patriotism and reverence for the flag will be instilled in the school children of the State by a measure passed by the Legislature, which will require that the flag be flown over every school building in the State.

TIME WAS OVER.
STOCKTON, April 26.—Proclamations posted about Chinatown tonight announced the settlement of the long war recently waged along the coast. The papers have been signed by the State Comptroller, according to local reports, and forwarded by the San Francisco headquarters to all long societies.

PATY RUTHERFORD'S HOSPITAL.
The Assembly appropriated $1000 for the funeral expenses of the late Assemblyman Frank M. Rutherford of Truckee, whose death occurred early this month. The hospital bills also are to be paid from the contingent fund of the Lower House in conformity with a long established custom. Mr. Rutherford was taken ill during the first week of the January session.

BREED'S BILL BECOMES LAW.
(BY A. P. HUGHES WIRE.)
SACRAMENTO, April 26.—Of interest to all bankers, is Senator Breed's bill, declaring that bonds payable to bearer are negotiable notwithstanding any terms in the deed of trust, the first measure which has been passed by the Legislature since the opening of the session.

GOVERNOR TO RECEIVE.
(BY A. P. HUGHES WIRE.)
SACRAMENTO, April 26.—Invitations were received by the members of the Senate and Assembly tonight to attend an afternoon reception of the Legislature, May 1, by Gov. and Mrs. Hiram W. Johnson.

PETITION FOR JETNEY TAX.
(BY A. P. HUGHES WIRE.)
SACRAMENTO, April 26.—Petitions to the Legislature to pass the Cogswell bill, fixing a tax of $12.00 a seat on the United Mine Workers' motor cars, had more than 10,000 signatures, motor men and shippers of street car companies of the State, were presented to the Legislature today. They were signed as a reply to a claim by the motor bus interests that the platform men were unethically on their side.

GOOD FRIEND OF BOSSES.
ROOSEVELT USED TO WRITE PERSONAL LETTERS TO THEM.
To One He Submitted the Proof of His Goodwill Message and His Headed Parrot State Tammany Also—Truth of the Matter is He Did Everything but Sleep There.

BY A. P. HUGHES WIRE.
STRAUCER (N. Y.) April 26.—Theodore Roosevelt admitted under cross-examination today in the suit for alleged libel which William Barnes has brought against him, that while Governor he had freely committed the "boss" of the Republican party in New York State in reference to the appointment of officials in the State government and various legislative and political matters.

The "boss" named was Thomas C. Platt, who at that time represented New York in the United States Senate. The former President said he took the advice of the Senator in many matters, among them appointing a Democrat to the office of State Comptroller, and a Republican to the office of State Treasurer. He also named a "dissemination" of Richard Croker, then leader of Tammany Hall.

The testimony resulted from questions asked after letters of a series of correspondence between Roosevelt and Senator Platt had been read to the jury. In these letters, both writers advised Platt to support the Republican party in New York State.

In one, Col. Roosevelt advised Senator Platt to support the Republican party in New York State. In another, he advised him to support the Republican party in New York State. In a third, he advised him to support the Republican party in New York State.

WAY TO WIN EXPENSE MONEY FOR SCHOOLING.

Great Educational Contest of "The Times" Provides Large List of Scholarships as Rewards for Earnest Labor, and Also Distribution of Fourteen Purses of Gold Coin for Students' Incidentals.

AFTER a day of rest, the contestants in the great Educational Contest of The Times started with new vigor yesterday morning in their determination to win the choice of scholarships and the extra rewards of gold coin that will go to the fourteen contestants having the fourteen highest scores.

Those who were well started in the campaign last week took hold of the new week's labor with increased confidence. They have already found out how easy it is to get subscription contracts under the plan which does who have not yet become active in the field. The Times wants to reiterate the fact that the fourteen extra rewards of gold coin, for expense money during the school term, given entirely free and above the scholarships selected, offers you an unexcelled opportunity. Other boys and girls are daily demonstrating their ability to get out and win subscription contracts. You have just as good a chance as they have, and the field is open. You are cordially invited to come to the Scholarship Contest Headquarters, second floor of The Times Building, and talk matters over. You will get a regular commission on every new subscription contract taken thus paying you well for the work undertaken, as well as having the incentive of winning the high gold coin reward of $250 for school expense money and your choice of scholarships.

THE GOLD REWARDS.

Here is the way the gold coins for school expenses in to be distributed to the fourteen contestants having the fourteen highest scores of votes:

First choice of scholarships and $250 in gold to the candidate securing the highest number of votes.

Second choice of scholarships and $150 in gold to the candidate securing the second highest number of votes.

Third choice of scholarships and $100 in gold to the candidate securing the third highest number of votes.

Fourth choice of scholarships and $50 in gold to the candidate securing the fourth highest number of votes.

Fifth choice of scholarships and $25 in gold to the candidate securing the fifth highest number of votes.

Sixth choice of scholarships and $10 in gold to the candidate securing the sixth highest number of votes.

Seventh choice of scholarships and $5 in gold to the candidate securing the seventh highest number of votes.

Eighth choice of scholarships and $2 in gold to the candidate securing the eighth highest number of votes.

Ninth choice of scholarships and $1 in gold to the candidate securing the ninth highest number of votes.

Tenth choice of scholarships and $1 in gold to the candidate securing the tenth highest number of votes.

Eleventh choice of scholarships and $1 in gold to the candidate securing the eleventh highest number of votes.

not require the collection of money in advance, and they are also impressed with the great possibilities in the club offer—good until May 25—whereby 25,000 extra votes can be secured for each club of five yearly subscription contracts.

And joining the company of earnest boys and girls already in the work are recruits who have seen the advantage of The Times offer to help the young people to help themselves to get an education. When the schedule showing the standing of candidates next is printed, it will contain various new names in the higher scores.

EXTRA VOTES ALLOWED.

Under the provisions of the extra votes for clubs offer a new candidate can start in right now and get an extra vote in a very short time. This offer provides that 25,000 extra votes in addition to the regular credits will be given on each and every club of five, new and old twelve months' subscription contracts (or their equivalent in shorter term subscriptions) secured and sent in to the Educational Contest Headquarters between April 20 and May 25, inclusive. The extra votes that you would secure in one club alone would be sufficient to place your name in a leading position in the list of candidates. Go out and see how easy it is to win such a place in the list that will be published this mid-week.

For the benefit of the candidates

Bessie M. Jones, student in the Gardena Agricultural High School, who started out yesterday to win a scholarship for a piano course. Her first day's record is highly encouraging.

Laura Belle Ormon, who is making a fine campaign in the San Fernando Valley town.

Public Stenographers' Shorthand Institute (Amateur course). $25 scholarship, De Chauvenet Conservatory of Music (vocal). $25 scholarship, the Company of Public Stenographers' Shorthand Institute (students' course).

Various candidates in the list published Sunday morning got down to solid work yesterday, and found that it was easy to get subscription contracts under the system whereby it is not necessary to collect 1 cent in advance. New candidates came into the field, and the week's activities started off with great promise.

Donald M. Bates is a 14-year-old lad whose home is No. 314 South Lake avenue, Pasadena. He is a pupil of the McKinley School and is considered one of the best in scholarship in the entire school. Donald has a wide acquaintance and is letting his friends know that he is out to win.

Roy Burton is a new candidate to enter from Hialto and gives promise of making a lively campaign. Cecil Sparks is a Redlands boy who also starts in with the beginning of this week, and John Duffy is a live lad of Colton who is certain to be heard from.

Bessie M. Jones of Moneta started in the campaign yesterday. She is well known in the Moneta district and sees lots of possibilities ahead for subscription contracts. Bessie is 18 years old and a pupil in the Gardena Agricultural High School. She wants to win a scholarship for the piano course. Her very start in the work brought her two new yearly subscription contracts, which with the 100 votes allowed on the entrance blank placed her voting score at $500.

Pomona places two new candidates in the field, both of them boys of the Pomona High School. They are Robert Crawford of No. 199 Kingsley street, and Ross Crawford of No. 193 West Fifth street. Each has hosts of friends and each is determined to bring his score of votes right up in the column of contestants.

Laura Belle Ormon of No. 219 East C street, Van Nuys, has been making her time count at Van Nuys and Marian. Her reports yesterday were highly encouraging for a place near the head of the list.

Maurice Saint Dizier of No. 3876 Fourth avenue, Los Angeles, demonstrated the great advantage of the subscription-contract plan, with no money to be collected by the contestant, by going out yesterday and securing twelve subscription contracts.

SCHOLARSHIPS OFFERED.

The Times today adds a new scholarship to the list offered for the choice of contestants. This is the Egan School of Moving Picture Acting. Los Angeles is the very center of the great moving picture production industry. The opportunities in this line of artistic effort are unlimited. Nye G. Oberg, a Riverside contestant, continues to send in fine reports, showing that he is thoroughly in earnest.

He wants to win a scholarship in the Page Military Academy.

Helen Curry of No. 1724 West Fort-second street also demonstrated yesterday that it is easy to start your schedule of votes. She will appear in the next list of active candidates, and will have a good showing.

Harold Jensen of No. 4147 West sixteenth street, also comes into the scoring class through his efforts yesterday.

Cecil Ayres of El Centro sends in a very fine report from the Imperial Valley. He is making time count in this rich field and his showing in the next list will be fine. Karl Jauman, another El Centro boy, and Helen Williams of Imperial, show good work done the past few days.

Pratt Driver on Stand.

The fight. He said he did not know where they went. When asked by Deputy District Attorney Keyes, who examined him, if Mrs. Pratt had ever told him where she went, the witness said she told him on several occasions that "I went to see Chief Sebastian."

He said he would wait for Mrs. Pratt to return and then take her to a show. Later he said he and the girl would meet Mrs. Pratt at some appointed place.

Lewis said that he had lived at the Pratt residence, No. 877 East Thirty-eighth street, from the middle of January, 1914, to February 5, 1915. He said that frequently in the first six months of his stay there he accompanied Mrs. Pratt and the Berklin girl on a street car to the downtown section on occasions when it is alleged that Mrs. Pratt and her half sister met the Chief in room 17 in the Arizona lodge.

He said that one night in the early part of April, 1914, while Mrs. Pratt, Miss Berklin and himself were at Second and Hill streets, Chief Sebastian met him in a police machine driven by a police chauffeur, and took them to the Pratt residence.

Lewis was more definite as to date and time than the Berklin girl. Attorneys for the Chief say they will try him on each date given and prove an alibi for the Chief as well as the Pratt case.

Lewis said that he had been talking with Mrs. Pratt before going to the Chief's office and that when he told her he was not of age, Mrs. Pratt replied, "I can fix that for you."

LAND'S FINEST RIDERS GATHER.

Five hundred of them here for the Great Rodeo. With Westerners will lead Saturday's Pageant.

Chicago Lawyer Among Stars of Range Gymnastics.

Five hundred cowboys and cowgirls, gathered in Los Angeles for the big round-up ever held in the United States, will be a most picturesque feature of the Golden West pageant to be produced next Saturday morning under the auspices of the 1915 General Committee.

Every range State west of the Mississippi will be represented in the personnel of the contingent, and among the riders will be the most famous broncho-busters, both men and women, in the country.

Sharing honors with the plainmen will be the entire membership of the Westerners, 300 strong, including both horsemen and horsewomen. The Westerners will include in their number Troop C, made up of the Ventura county members of this typical southwestern organization.

The Ventura, to the number of sixty, will be commanded by Maj. J. A. Driffler, manager of the American Best Sugar Company's factory at Oxnard.

The Westerners and the cowboys will make up the first of the six divisions of Saturday's pageant, and they will be led by the famous cowboy band, headed by Capt. Jack Sinclair of Cody, Colo.

Among the latest arrivals to compete in the rodeo, which will open May 2 at the Stadium, East Thirty-fifth street and Hooper avenue, is Jason Stanley, a Chicago attorney, who reached Los Angeles yesterday.

Stanley learned to ride in Oklahoma, where he was born, and he wears a diamond medal as the world's champion pony-express rider. This trophy was awarded him last year at the Pendleton round-up.

Another woman rider in the cowgirls' relay race, one of the big events on the rodeo program, is Mrs. Nettie Hawn of Fresno county, who, with her husband, "Happy Jack" Hawn, has figured in many breath-taking range Olympic stunts at various points along the Pacific coast.

Mrs. Hawn brought with him to Los Angeles the biggest collection of bucking horses ever assembled in the San Joaquin Valley. Most of these are wild animals, never having been ridden.

NEW EXECUTIVE OF BOY SCOUTS.

POLLARD OF CHICAGO TO TAKE CHARGE HERE TODAY.

Local Organization Secures Former College Coach and Chief of Windy City Youth as Director—Five Hundred to March to Station to Greet Him This Afternoon.

Led by members of the Los Angeles Council 608 Boy Scouts will parade to the Arcade Station at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon to receive their new chief, D. W. Pollard of Chicago. Extensive plans have been made for the reception of Mr. Pollard, and many features are promised by H. D. Cross, National Field Scout Commissioner for the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Pollard has been executive secretary of the Chicago Council of Boy Scouts the past four years, practically having entire charge of the organization in that city. He is 42 years old, a graduate of the Harvard Summer School and of the Y.M.C.A. College at Springfield, Mass. He has been physical director of various Y.M.C.A. branches and was coach of the Brown University track team. He was the original organizer and supervisor of the first municipal playground in Springfield.

Mr. Pollard has been connected with the Boy Scout movement ten years. The first six years were spent as local and territorial secretary of Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. During his stay in Chicago Mr. Pollard secured the backing of the Board of Trade for the scouts. This body purchased the site of the present training camp at White Hall, Mich., consisting of forty acres of woodland near Lake Crystal. Last year 24 boys from the congested districts of Chicago attended this camp.

Mr. Pollard will find upon his arrival a strong organization of business men constituting the Los Angeles Council, the members of which are as follows: Chairman, Judge Curtis D. Withers; vice-chairman, Col. Arthur Williams; treasurer, J. D. Radford. Other members: M. C. Adler, Roger M. Andrews, Louis M. Cole, Dr. J. E. Cowles, H. H. Dyer, John H. Francis, Rev. James A. Francis, Morris M. Ferguson, Frank Heron, A. R. Hewitt, Edward K. Hoak, Mark Keppel, E. C. Lyon, W. E. McVay, Joseph Messner, Dr. J. E. Millspaugh, Chaplain Orville J. Nave, Charles B. Raitt, C. E. Sebastian, J. R. Sartori, James P. Smart, Dr. William H. Snyder, Col. J. E. Steadman, H. M. Tuttle, George R. Whitcomb.

THE LEGISLATIVE GHOST.

Politics, high finance, union labor agitators, all are melodrama, were mixed into a brew in the Legislature last week that should cast a spell as potent as aught that issued from the cauldron of the witches of Macbeth.

First came the melodramatic nonpartisan bill, the result of a combination between "Progressive" politicians who seek to destroy other parties because they have lost their own, and the gamblers and walking delegates of San Francisco who naturally prefer the flag of political piracy to enrollment under the banner of any legitimate party organization. That was passed by the patronage combination in the Legislature but must now run the gauntlet of a referendum vote of the electors of the State.

High finance was not overlooked. Rewards were distributed to the faithful in the way of salary increases, beginning with the commissioners and employees of San Francisco's water front and extending to a number of other favored commissions. Assemblyman Rogers protested that a portion of this money would go to the State Harbor Commission in San Francisco, an appointee of the Governor, who owns the building in which is conducted the most notorious gambling joint on the Pacific Coast. The aggregate of these increases is about $25,000 a year for the pay envelopes of the tax-eaters, and a corresponding decrease in the ever-loosening sum which will be placed this year in the public-school fund. During the first week of the present session Gov. Johnson issued a statement to the effect that the condition of the State finances was such that no salary increases would be considered this year. But that policy was abandoned after the nonpartisan fight developed. Each of the salary increases was passed in the Assembly over the protest of the Republican minority and by a straight administration vote.

Getting away from the administration policies on politics and finance, some beneficial legislation was passed. When the hand of the Dictator is withdrawn, the present Senate becomes an intelligent and dignified deliberative body. It is the first in ten years that has been courageous enough to rebel openly against the assumed dictation of Pinhead McCarthy, Olaf Tveitmo and their criminal crew of walking delegates and union labor agitators. The chief object of the labor unions came to the State capital in person to lobby against the apprentice bill and in favor of the anti-injunction act. Despite their assumed dictation a number of Senators from the southern part of the State voted squarely against every measure which tended to hamper or stifle industrial freedom. Senators Anderson and Ballard read the riot act to the agitators in open session; their pet measures were beaten, and Tveitmo and McCarthy returned dejectedly to their South-of-Market haunts bearing with them the menace of many of their own followers.

Important legislation was adopted affecting the insurance companies and their agents operating in California. The new acts place many restrictions about insurance agents and brokers which tend to weed out the undesirable and to increase the responsibilities of the companies for the acts of their agents.

But the prime interest of last week centered about the melodramatic attraction furnished the morbidly curious of Sacramento by the preliminary hearings of the impeachment proceedings brought against Superior Judge John D. Childs of Del Norte county. One of the principal charges against the judge is that he aided in a conspiracy to railroad two women and four young men to prison on charges relating to the commission of a statutory offense against the eleven-year-old daughter of one of the women. During the first two days it was very plain that they were all innocent. The prisoners were brought from Folsom and San Quentin to testify; each admitted that he or she had been wrongfully committed, and that the judge was to blame. The more salacious details became the greater the crowds grew until the moving-picture houses were all empty and the Assembly Hall could not hold the hundreds in attendance. But when the defense had its day in court it became equally apparent that the judge had taken a courageous part in the conviction of disreputable characters who had been guilty of unpardonable offenses. More salacious testimony and bigger crowds; not even the giant redwoods of Del Norte county overtop the tall swarming of some of the Rogue River witnesses. One of them was haled from the witness chair to the police station on a charge of perjury; but the only effect was to make the others worse.

Stirred to emulate the example of the Del Norte County Citizens' Committee, charges have now been filed against nine other Superior Court and two Supreme Court judges; and the Judiciary Committee of the Assembly is at its wits end to know what to do with them all. If the letter of the law is to be followed there must be a full preliminary hearing before a special committee in each case. Meantime, a petition believed to be instigated by the managers of the moving-picture houses has gone to the Assembly to have all future preliminary hearings in impeachment cases held behind closed doors.

THE GOLF CHAMPION.
There is considerable satisfaction that a California should have won the international golf championship in the exposition contest just closed at San Francisco. Although the war prevented many of the crack European players from participating, the standard of golf with which Harry B. K. Davis won his laurels was of the highest and there is no reason to believe that the result would have been any different under happier circumstances.

Davis is a veritable giant, standing 6 ft. 2 in., proportionately built, and an acknowledged Amateur by both sexes. He already held the Coast laurels, and this event shows that the Pacific Coast is pre-eminent in golf as well as tennis, that we can grow champions in outdoor sports as well as we can grow oranges.

Once again the climate can take the credit, for we can play our outdoor games the year around here under the most ideal conditions. No hibernating for six months while the winter blasts encompass the land!

Straining the Top Board.

FINANCIAL CONDITIONS AT WASHINGTON.

When the Democratic party is out of power it denounces Republican extravagance, and denounces a more economical administration of the Federal government. When it is in power it expends the public money like a drunken sailor.

The administration is not altogether blameless for this, nor yet altogether censurable. The public expenditures are in the hands of half a dozen committees of Congress, each working for itself and ignoring the others.

While the war in Europe has largely increased our expenditures, it has largely decreased our imports, and it is from imports and not from exports that Federal revenue is derived.

The available working capital of the government fell from $129,532,960 on July 1, 1914, to $42,759,669 on March 2, 1915. The treasury is running behind at the rate of about $15,000,000 a month, and when the balance on hand shall have disappeared, say about June 15, a bond sale will be necessary. On January 1 next sugar will be admitted free of duty unless the incoming Congress shall, in December, change the law, thus reducing the revenue more than fifty millions of dollars.

It is probably not to be expected that the Sixty-fourth Congress will undo all the acts of its predecessors, and without such undoing the financial situation at Washington must inevitably grow worse every month.

The one complete remedy for existing conditions is to restore the Republican party to complete power. The people will attend to that next year.

"DEPARTMENT OF PEACE."
Congressman Adair (Dem.) of the Eighth Indiana district, who was re-elected, introduced a bill in Congress to create an executive Department of Peace which would, if it had passed, have created a Secretary of Peace with a salary of $12,000 per annum, an Assistant Secretary of Peace with a salary of $6,000, a chief clerk with a salary of $5,000, and a chief clerk with a salary of $4,000. This department would have given offices to a dozen or more impetuous Democrats who otherwise might have been compelled to depend upon the precarious hospitality of the free-lanceables and invitations to imbibition from the friends of peace for their victuals and drink.

Section 2 of the bill declares: "That the purpose of the Department of Peace shall be to act as a civil tribunal, clothed, by legislative act, with ample power to cope with the problem of settling any controversy or contention that may arise, so that reason with intellect [as if Democratic politicians were endowed with these qualities] will adjust those controversies on the basis of the ground of right, to make it possible that violence, war, and murder will be abandoned."

With charming confidence in the power of this $50,000 outfit of Democratic politicians, Mr. Adair assumes that Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, and Emperor Franz Josef of Austria, and Czar Nicholas of Russia, and President Poincaré of France, and George the Fifth of England, and Mehmed V of Turkey, and Mikado Yoshihito of Japan, and King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, and King Peter Karageorgewitch of Serbia, and Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria, and King Charles of Rumania, would stop their troops from shooting at each other, and discontinue sinking each others' ships, and fire no more bombs filled with asphyxiating gas into each others' camps, and would cheerfully submit their grievances and their expectations to the jurisdiction

THE "WOMANLY WOMAN."

Has She Been Shown up at Last?
BY JEANNE REDMAN.

At last we have the exposure of the Womanly Woman! Of course she has been exposed many times, but always in books which she and her masculine addendum would not read—for instance by such a crazy Irishman as George Bernard Shaw, and by such a Swedish blue-stock as that Ellen Key!

But now we have her exposed in a best "Angels" Business, by Henry Sydney Harrison, which every Womanly Woman who reads at all will read, unless somebody warns her. Of course the Womanly Woman (the capitals are Harrison's) will fall to see any connection between herself and Angela because of her primary characteristic, self-complacency, but ah, the rest of us will see the resemblance at once; in fact I called one of them "Angela" by mistake the other day when she repeated for the thousandth time that meaningless but touching phrase, "woman's sphere is the home."

Angela in the Womanly Woman who gets her cap for Garrot, the attractive author-bachelor, in the good old-fashioned, underhand way, baiting him with her beauty and her ignorance and her womanliness.

She blunders at the mention of marriage; she admires his strength when he cracks her little automobile; she lends him a book in order that he will call and return it; she tells him that she finds it enough of a vacation to keep house for her parents "to dispense Comfort and Beauty," she calls it; and she sits very close to him on the sofa (what a weird knowledge these innocent little souls have of the value of nearness) and tells him that the ring she wears belongs to a man who still vainly endeavors to win her hand. In fact, she used all the trickery that her feminist sister scorned—such as looking amazed at the erudition of a man who tells her something that she knows perfectly well.

Harrison carries all this very far toward the line of burlesque, describing with delicious humor Angela's efforts to secure Garrot by means of her little automobile—a "Fordette." He tutors for a living, besides writing his great novel, and Angela learns the whereabouts of his pupils, and turns up every day just as he emerges from the house of the last one, and so surprised at seeing him, begs to drop him somewhere, as she is only out for an airing.

The delightfully modern notes of the book, however, lies in the fact that Garrot is a "new man," and that he sees through all these little artifices and despises them thoroughly.

I strongly advise the incoming generation of Womanly Women to regard very seriously the advent of the New Man, who is, at last, undeniably in our midst.

Remember, the next time you lend a man your Cambridge edition of Longfellow, that he knows why you do it, and while you are telling him that you find a life-work in housekeeping, that he is wondering why you prefer to be a grafter and a parasite for the eight or nine hours of the day when your housekeeping cannot possibly occupy you.

Another horrible discovery is that having one or two children in your early twenties does not entitle you to lie back on your laurels for the rest of your life!

But to return to the plot (which is of little consequence) there is, in the book, another woman who is the very antithesis of the feminine Angela, Mary Ing, a thoroughly emancipated black-chapel teacher, who scores all help that is not real, and all advice of any description. Praised be to Henry Sydney Harrison for Mary Wing!

It has been some time since we have believed the old superstition that the emancipated woman is a cigar-smoking virago, a loud-mouthed, blonded termagant, whose morals are not any better than they should be; but the vast majority of us do still maintain that she is selfish, mannish (horrible epithet), and conceited, because she draws her own conclusions rather than accept those of her husband and brothers.

Heaven forbid that a woman should go back a generation to her father for suggestions, the only man she should turn to for advice is her son, because he is critical, disinterested, loyal and modern.

Mary Wing is fearfully emancipated, but at the same time she is beautiful, quietly dressed, elegant, unselfish, gentle and generous to a fault (where will you find a woman who coaxes money from her husband's pockets so generous as one who coaxes it herself)? And how were it possible for one who has been sheltered all her life to be as sympathetic as one who has struggled side by side with men, courageous, persistent and ambitious?

Charles Garrot sees all these things, as the New Man must, and he finds a place for lovely Mary at his side.

Angela! Oh, she succeeds as all Womanly Women do and marries the only eligible bachelor in the town, leaving her widowed mother to the care of Mary, her "different" cousin, who resigns an offer of the secretary of the Educational League in New York because she found at the last that she was "not willing to leave mother."

The book is not a literary masterpiece, but it is a glorious gust of fresh air, and leaves the delighted reader with the sensation of having received a good blowing up, and the assurance that the "younger generation is knocking at the door."

Life's Gentler Side—Society, Music, Song and the Dance—The Theater

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

MORE than 200 society people, including many prominent members of the masculine contingent, are expected to the reception which Mrs. C. Modin-Wood, Mrs. William H. Perry and Mrs. J. Clark are giving this afternoon between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock at the Wood home, No. 29 St. James Park.

Mrs. and Mrs. J. Langford Stack (the former who was fortunate enough to win for his bride a few months ago one of Los Angeles' society belles, and daughter of the Woods—Miss Elizabeth Wood) who returned only a few days ago from their honeymoon spent delightfully in tropical Honolulu, are to give their initial postnuptial social event. The stacks are to be the motif for a continuous round of social safety during their stay of a fortnight in Los Angeles, prior to going to their future residence in beautiful Wheaton, just out of Chicago, where the groom holds all manner of championships and records in polo and golf.

Amidst all the much-anticipated affair of today will be Mrs. R. T. Johnson, Mrs. Frank Carlisle, Mrs. Michael J. Connell, Mrs. Willis Booth, Mrs. Albin C. Balch, Mrs. John Mott, Mrs. E. F. Clark, Mrs. Lucy Clark, Mrs. John Francis, Mrs. Loren D. Bala, Mrs. John A. Fairchild, Mrs. James R. Page, Mrs. J. N. Van Nuy, Mrs. Stephen C. Hubbard, Mrs. Charles Fraser, Mrs. James A. Osgood, Mrs. Ignacio Sepulveda, Miss Conchita Sepulveda, Miss Mollie Adella Brown, Mrs. Joseph K. Keeney, Mrs. James R. Hall, Mrs. James O. Mowin, Mrs. George Kline, Mrs. Joseph Call, Mrs. J. D. Radford, Mrs. James G. Mowin, Mrs. William Ennis and Mrs. A. H. Busch.

A dancing party will follow this evening at 8 o'clock, when over 100 of the younger set are invited in honor of the stacks. The music is engaged for all night, and there is to be a continuous service for the buffet supper. William Perry Wood will be added to the list of hosts for the dancing party.

Many functions are in the planning for the stacks. The popular bride has always been a great favorite in select social circles, and her friends, who are legion, are most anxious to better know the fine chap to whom

Mrs. J. Langford Stack.

Who with Mr. Stack will be honor guest at a brilliant tea this afternoon and dancing party this evening. They are spending a fortnight in the C. Modin-Wood home, while returning from their honeymoon trip to their future home near Chicago.

who recently gave her heart and hand. Both affairs give promise of being among the most brilliant of the spring season.

Mrs. Page to Entertain. At her residence, No. 529 South Kingsley drive, Mrs. James Page, formerly Miss Kate Van Nuy, will entertain at luncheon today, complementing ten friends of the hostess's mother, Mrs. J. N. Van Nuy.

Mrs. Bostwick Hostess. At her pretty home, No. 422 West Adams street, Mrs. M. A. Bostwick is to contribute a luncheon to the week's social calendar on Friday, the second of a series of delightful affairs she is giving.

Mrs. Bostwick, by the way, has just returned from Santa Barbara, where she went with her house guests, the L. A. Times, to the conclusion of a most happy visit in Los Angeles have gone to San Francisco to view the exposition before continuing their journey home, stopping in Santa Barbara on route.

Prerequisite to Miss Holmes. A charming nuptial courtesy was extended Miss Helen Holmes yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Thomas C. Murphy, who entertained a company of twelve at a theater party, with tea later at the home of Mrs. Murphy.

At the party, where she received with her usual grace and hospitality, the bride and groom were the guests of honor. The party was a most successful one, and the bride and groom were the guests of honor.

Miss Moore, who just two years ago made her debut in the society, is to marry Austin Chamberlain Whidden on Thursday at 12:30 noon.

The ceremony will be held at the home of Mrs. Frances Josephine Holmes, No. 1823 Cordova street, at that time will be used for the auspicious marriage ceremony. The brother of Mrs. Moore, Mr. Thomas D. Murphy, was coming from the East to give the bride away, in company with his wife, who was to be matron of honor.

Miss Dorothy Trask, a cousin, is to serve as a stunning maid of honor, and Messrs. Arden Day, Charles Little, Warland Trask and Henry Reynolds are to usher. An unusually important feature of the ceremony lies in the interesting fact that the groom will have for best man his father, William H. Whidden of Portland, who with Mrs. Whidden is here for the marriage.

Miss Dorothy Trask is entertaining with a dance in her cousin's honor to-night at the Trask home, No. 121 E. Andrews place.

Among those who have complimented Miss Holmes on her beauty and grace are the Brysons, who gave a matinee party at the Orpheum Friday last, followed by tea at the Alexander home.

Marshall-Welch. Miss Margaret Welch and H. B. Marshall, both of Long Beach, were married on Friday at the home of Mrs. J. M. Schaefer, No. 1204 E. Molino street. After a wedding trip of several weeks they will reside at No. 1221 First street, Long Beach.

The Moore and Cogh. Friday, April 24, will be the thirty-third anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Moore of No. 211 North Washington avenue, and upon this day will again be celebrated

STAGE CRIME SPILLS OVER.

If You Like Melodrama Here is Your Chance.

"Big Jim Garrity" at Burbank is a Thriller.

High Brow Drama Fies with Comedy at Orpheum.

BY HENRY CHRISTENSEN WARRACK

"Big Jim Garrity" broke into stock at the Burbank yesterday afternoon with Louis Bannison as its fairy godfather. This is a story of a man who falls no larger game than a few flimsy boys drivers and whose natural appetite for thrills requires more than the minor street-crossing accidents, which furnish his peace.

In other words, "Big Jim Garrity" is an entirely stage-made melodrama of such an approved order that it should have been a collaboration of Willard Mack, Paul Armstrong and Elmer Harris, after all three had taken a thorough course in the drama of the late Clyde Fitch.

In reality it was written single-handed by Owen Davis and I suspect him of having done it at one sitting when he had a grudge against himself or at times when he heard the clank and rattle of a train in a hurry to respond.

It has some theme but no motive and is written in pictures rather than words. The types are distinct, as the Davis characters usually are, and his stage mechanism always is.

At no time in the play was I able to forget that it was just a set of situations trumped up for the theater, but I do not blame the actors for this. The better and more skillful they are, the more they should be able to direct the audience's attention to the point of the play.

Garrity was convicted of a murder he did not commit and sentenced to the penitentiary for twenty years. He served one year and escaped. Remaining abscondly near the scene of his conviction, he worked himself up to the point of a California railroad. He married a beautiful woman.

Miss Bertha McCray, No. 499 West Avenue Fifty-two, who recently returned from Berlin, where she has been studying music, was the guest of honor Friday at a reception at Elsie's home, Mrs. Edward E. Elsie, No. 242 North Kenilworth avenue, Eagle Rock City. The hostesses were: Mesdames Edward Elsie, Robert C. Patterson, Calvin McCray and Shannon D. Lenz.

Guests included Mrs. Samuel McCray, Miss Tessie McCray, Mrs. Ernest Garrett, Mrs. Myrtle R. Grunthal, Miss Sara R. Arnold, Mrs. Owen Elsie, Mrs. H. B. Elsie, Mrs. Charles M. Alderson, Miss Mary Marshall and Mrs. W. A. Oates.

A Dinner for Eight. The W. H. Hays was host at an attractive dinner of eight covers on Friday evening at their handsome Hollywood home, Havenhurst. A profusion of pink and white roses graced the table, and the guests were seated Mr. and Mrs. Edward Elsie, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Adams and the hostess.

Dinner in Red Room. On Thursday evening Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Hays entertained at dinner Senator W. B. and Mrs. Seelye of Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bickler, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Robinson, Miss Betty Smith and Mrs. C. Adams and the hostess.

For Mrs. Allen. Rather a remarkable visitor to Los Angeles just now, is Mrs. Walter M. Allen of Cleveland, whose summer home is on the coast of Maine, for which point she leaves today, after having spent sixteen months in Japan. With ample means which enables her to carry out a splendid work, Mrs. Allen at her own expense spends a great part of her life in missionary work, and is going to build a kindergarten in the Orient upon her return there in the fall of 1916. Her Japan headquarters are in Kyoto.

This interesting woman was honored at an informal afternoon, given by Mrs. W. A. McLagan on Wednesday, when the following guests were bidden: Mrs. James R. Hall, Mrs. E. L. Dutton, Mrs. G. H. Jones, Mrs. B. W. Brown, Mrs. Marie Bradley, Mrs. W. R. Lee and Mrs. J. C. Adams and the hostess.

For Fifteen Guests. Mr. and Mrs. Byron S. Phelps of Hollywood boulevard were dinner hosts yesterday, with covers for Mr. and Mrs. Edward Elsie, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Schaefer, Mrs. B. W. Brown, Mrs. Marie Bradley, Mrs. W. R. Lee and Mrs. J. C. Adams and the hostess.

Informal Entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Neal entertained informally on Thursday evening about twenty friends in genial sociability.

It all depends on what sort of act you like at the Orpheum this week.

You have two or three winners to choose a headliner from.

The critic who desires a "brow" reputation will choose Mrs. Yorska in Maurice Joy's "Days of War," a poignant little playlet involving the choice between love and duty on the part of a theatrical woman. This choice is in connection with a lover whom she suspects of being a spy.

The playlet deals only with the vital phases of the situation; the girl may be an actress or a dancer; the setting is merely an apartment in a "European seaside resort." The girl falls for him when she discovers that he is a spy, and it is so to give him up as an enemy of her country. Her nerve falls for him when she discovers that he is a spy, and it is so to give him up as an enemy of her country.

All this is brought out by Mrs. Yorska in a most skillful and artistic manner. Her pleading with her lover to give away with her after his capture is a very touching scene, wherein she uses every feminine charm in her power, meanwhile giving evidence of the all-compelling dread behind it is an especially fine bit of acting. The training she receives under Mrs. Bernhard shows in everything Mrs. Yorska does—she is the little trick of voice and manner, and the make-up, the dancing, the singing, the acting, the everything Mrs. Yorska has adapted them well, and she never seems to tire.

It is rather as if she were an instrument like the divine Sarah, from which similar tunes may be wrung. But the instrument has less range and the voice of Yorska while expressive, not by any means, the lovely voice of Bernhard.

John Hyams and Lella McIntyre carry off the comedy honors of the bill. Mrs. McIntyre is a dancer and beautiful, with a personality whose charm is rather elusive. John Hyams is a very amusing comedian. Their sketch is set in a theater entrance and later in the bare theater itself, with Mr. Hyams acting the part of a dancer, and Mrs. McIntyre a Quakeress who wants to go on the stage.

Their work is reminiscent of musical comedy, and Mrs. McIntyre's songs, "Wrap Me in a Bundle" and "Take Me Home With You," and "The Walls Man" are delightful, especially the latter, which is a very clever and well-acted piece.

JUDGE LANDIS BEHIND PEACE.

Starts Movement to Bring Factions Together.

Feds to Leave Chicago and St. Louis Rumor.

Detroit and Cincinnati to be New Clubs.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.) PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—Substantiation for the rumors that the baseball war would be at an end and shortly was obtained from one of the big men in baseball here today. He virtually admitted that the men who brought about the settlement were Judge E. M. Landis, before whom the Federal League's suit to dissolve the National Commission and organized baseball as a trust, was tried.

According to information received today Judge George Williams of St. Louis, a personal friend of Judge Landis, and members of both warring factions, were asked to intercede and bring about a peace settlement within a certain length of time. The Federal League would then withdraw its suit and ask that it be stricken from the court records. Judge Williams went to Chicago and after talking the situation over with Phil Ball, owner of the St. Louis Federal League club, and Robert Lee Hedges, owner of the St. Louis American league club, who has been for years Hedges and Ball immediately left for Chicago with the latter's attorney and held a consultation with President Dan Johnson of the American League.

Immediately after the meeting W. E. Robinson of Buffalo was called on the long distance phone while R. R. Ward of Brooklyn was summoned to Chicago.

It is understood that the Federal League is to give up its clubs in Chicago and St. Louis, while Charles Weeghman is to be the power in the National League in Chicago, with the latter's interests in the background. The latter club will be moved to the new Federal League park on the North Side, despite statements from Charles W. Murphy that the Cubs must play on the West Side as long as they are indebted to him.

Three major leagues will still be maintained. Two other clubs where but one major league club is located at present will be included in the three league circuit. Several cities are available, but it is likely that Cincinnati and Detroit will be the cities to replace St. Louis and Chicago in the Federal League. In this way every major league city will be represented by two clubs with the exception of Washington, while conflicting dates will also be avoided in Buffalo, Newark and Kansas City.

PLAYER LIMIT IS TOO PREVIOUS.

HARRY WOLVERTON WANTS THE TIME OF CUTTING DOWN HELD OFF TILL JUNE.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.) SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—Manager Harry Wolverton of the San Francisco club is out with a proposal that the Coast League managers rescind the rule of last fall, calling for the eighteen-player limit to go into effect on May 1. His argument is that the season so far has been so backward that a manager has not had a fair chance to determine on the respective merits of his players. If he is permitted to pack, say, twenty diamond workers until June 1, it would work to the benefit of the league in retaining the players that will furnish the highest class article of baseball. Wolverton is up against the proposition of cutting down four of his present squad by Saturday, and he admits that the job of weeding out is a hard one. An array of nine pitchers is his biggest problem. If he continues to retain the three catchers—Schmidt, Regalado and Block—he will force the hurling staff down to six, with a utility infielder and outfielder.

WHALE TACKLE USED FOR TROUT.

BOAR ABOUT FISH SCARCITY IN DUE TO POOR METHODS OF ANGSTERS.

During the last two or three weeks there has been complaint about the poor fishing at the Big and Little Bear lakes. This idea, according to several old-time fishermen from that region, is absolutely wrong. Each year there are hundreds of amateur fishing enthusiasts who start out for the trout resorts with no experience and a full equipment of deep sea tackle. They put their lobster outfit together and wade out after the elusive "rainbow" in a way calculated to bring tears to the eyes of anyone with a pretense of being civilized. Needless to say they fish only. Then they come back to the city and raise an awful howl about poor fishing.

In order to catch anything, such sports should take an old hand along to tell them how, and then let him do the fishing himself. It's the only way.

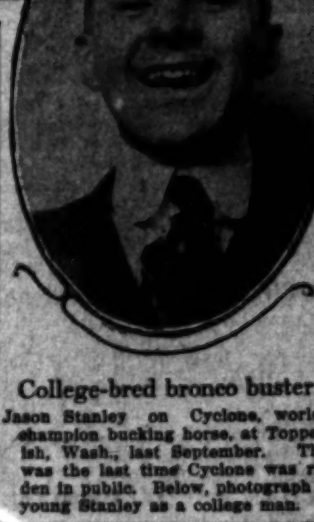

This year there is less reason for knocking than ever before. A rainbow trout twenty-five inches long doesn't even bring an exclamation of surprise from the experienced anglers. Fishing, for those that know how, has been excellent so far, and there is no doubt that the best yet to be. Last week, on account of the heavy rains, the excitement was not so intense. The streams were high and muddy and there was almost continual rain or snow. Naturally the strikes were fewer and a little farther between. The fish are there, though, and if anything less than a forty-two-cent outfit is used, they can be caught.

Perhaps the greatest difficulty of all in getting to the lakes. The roads at the present time are bad, practically impassable. But within a few days it is claimed, they will be in very fair condition. This will permit the usual entrance of hundreds of automobile parties, and fishing stock will probably jump.

ENGLISH PLAYERS SALARIES REDUCED

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE.) NEW YORK, April 26.—The English professional association football season closed this week, and, according to late reports from London, the financial status of the players will be readjusted before schedule play is resumed. All contracts between clubs and players will expire before May 1 and the 1915-16 contracts will show the effect of the war on English sports. The soccer magnates are drawing up a new form of agreement between player and club, showing sharp reductions in salaries all along the line. The maximum wage of about $20 a week will be cut to $15 and $10, according to the playing ability of the men signed. In addition, there will be no summer allowance except in the case of a few stars of the English soccer world.

SOUTH COAST YACHT CLUB SEASON OPENS SATURDAY.

MAYOR H. H. ROSE will deliver the opening address at the official opening of the 1915 season of the South Coast Yacht Club, next Saturday afternoon. His address will follow the opening ceremonies at 4:30, which consist of firing of a salute from the bluff in front of the clubhouse, the breaking out of the club's colors from the flagstaff, and the official opening by the commodore.

Earlier in the afternoon the fleet of yachts in the anchorage will be inspected by a committee appointed by Commodore Holland, three prize prizes to be given to the winners of the regatta. The yachts will be decorated and an open house held aboard. A banquet will be served to the members and their guests at 8:30 p.m., and the day topped off by a ball at 10:30.

On Sunday morning visiting parties will be aboard the boats and at 1:30 p.m., the fleet, led by Commodore Holland in his flagship, the Viking III, will in squadron formation, cruise in local waters.

Every effort is being put forth by the yacht owners toward having their craft in apple-pie shape for the inspection Saturday. A busy week-end was had at the anchorage this week. Among the yachts on the ways were the new cutter, owned by Ex-Commodore K. R. Bradley, at Fulton and Woodbine; the new cutter, owned by Ex-Commodore K. R. TRAP SHOOTERS TO SHOOT FOR TITLE.

(BY A. P. MONT WIRE.) NEW YORK, April 26.—With an entry list of over 200 amateur trapshooters, representing clubs from throughout the United States, the national championship for the national amateur championship title which will be decided next Saturday, May 1, should bring together the largest field of contestants ever assembled for this, the blue ribbon event, on the gunners' yearly schedule. For several years past the title has been won over the four sets of traps at Travis Island on Long Island Sound, and again the country home of the New York Athletic Club will be the scene of this year's contest.

On Friday, April 24, has been the custom in former years, the preliminary shoot at 100 targets will serve as an introductory to the big event, as the only difference being in the amount of entrance fees. For the preliminary each entrant will be taxed $5, but for the championship each contestant will have to pay $15.

Five prizes will be awarded to the high guns on the first day, while in the championship event ten prizes will be distributed. Last year Ralph L. Sports of the home club, who won honors as a member of America's Olympic team a few years ago, won both shoots, breaking 185 out of 200 targets in the preliminary and establishing a record for the amateur title of 185 out of 200. This was the first time that the two contests had been won by the same gunner and the champion's work was all the more remarkable in that the weather conditions were excellent on the opening day, while his record score for the title was made in a wind and rain storm, which beat into the face of the gunners almost incessantly during the entire day.

COLLEGE BOY RIDES BRONCO.

The Champion "Buster" is a Practicing Attorney.

Stanley Says Mustangs Soon will be Extinct.

Even Raw Ropes and Saddles are Different.

BY AD G. WADDELL.

Jason Stanley, the college-bred bronco buster, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to compete in the coming rodeo. Stanley is 25 years of age, an LL.B. of the University of Illinois, member of the Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity and one of the greatest Wild West athletes ever developed.

Until he was 15 years of age, he worked around horses on his father's ranch near Muskogee, Oklahoma. He then went up into Montana, where he did range work on the Musselshell River range. In 1907, he went with his brother and did cowboy work at fancy roping and riding.

The following year, the Stanley started a wild west show which traveled the United States and Canada until 1910, when the elder Stanley was killed by a horse and Jason returned to Urbana, Illinois, where he lived with an aunt and completed his high school career. He then entered the University of Illinois, working his way through by playing the rodeo or working on the ranges during the summer vacations.

BRONCO GONE. Graduating last June, he was admitted to the bar in Illinois a month later. He holds the world's fancy riding and pony express championships and the California state bronco busting title.

Stanley says that the days of both the rodeos and the bronco are soon to be past. The European war will shorten the days of the bronco. Practically no open range country is left where the bronco can breed and the horsemen are working for better saddle stock. The stockmen will not breed the broncos as the demand for good army saddle horses is greater than the supply.

With the passing of the bronco, the great rodeo sports will also be no more. Even now, the sports of the open range are for exhibition purposes mostly.

GOOD BYE OLD RIATA. Roping is almost a lost art even now. In Texas and New Mexico there are still many wild cattle. In these States there are still many excellent ropers, but in the North, where they raise horses more than cattle, the roper is seldom found.

Even the raw-hides riots of tradition have been replaced. Cowboys now use a 5-foot silk Manila which is exceptionally stout and small; will carry well and hold the loop. The old rawhide held the loop well when new, but became flimsy after being used a short time and never was strong.

The riding of bad horses is a game that grew out of the old cowboy necessities. On the ranches there hardly ever had enough gentle cow ponies to make up the round-up strings. The cowboys who were willing to ride what was called a rough string were given an extra $10 a month, and rode the outside circle in the round-up work. When a horse was too rough for the rough string of the roughest cow puncher, the animal became an outlaw.

The outlaws finally broke into wild west shows.

HOW SADDLES CHANGED. Stanley saw the method of riding outlaws has changed from the old days of the ranges.

Previous to 1885, the riders used to hobble their stirrups. That is, they tied their stirrups together under the horse and with their feet in the stirrups, could ride about anything. This method is still used by the women who ride bad horses, but it was not satisfactory with the cowboys because they did not have their feet free to use their spurs. They wanted to be able to spur the horses in the shoulder, which is the most tender spot. The next move was a bucking rod.

LIBERTY BELL LIBY AUTO TRUCK

Plan to Bring Famous Relic Over National Highway to Los Angeles.

With facts to overcome all apparent obstacles, officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California, together with officers and directors of the National Highway Association yesterday opened negotiations to bring the Liberty Bell to the Pacific Coast over the National Old Trails road.

A motor truck will be used as a conveyance, constructed especially for the work. It will be escorted by a platoon of mounted cavalry and police of the auto club and of National Old Trails road. Re-est trucks will be stationed at appointed intervals to carry gasoline and supplies for the Liberty Bell truck.

As the auto club's present plan now stands, although no definite steps have been taken with the government authorities, the bell would move toward the Panama-Pacific Exposition by way of Los Angeles and Southern California, returning over the northern route.

WHITE SOX WIN THEIR FIFTH STRAIGHT GAME.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

CHICAGO, April 26.—The Chicago Americans won their fifth straight game today when they defeated Cleveland, 13 to 1, and incidentally moved up into third place. The locals won the game by hitting opportunistically.

YANKEES DEFEAT
BOEHLING, 9 TO 2.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

NEW YORK, April 26.—The New York Americans made it two out of three from Washington here today by a score of 9 to 2. The Yankees beat Boehling with long hits, Pipp tripling with the base full in the third inning, while Cook hit a home run with two on the bases in the seventh.

OXY FOOTBALL
BEGINS TODAY.Practice to be Usual Brand of Opening.Foster Back on Job, Ready for Work.Brandstetter may Shift to Quarter.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon, rain or sunshine, the Occidental football squad will burst forth in full bloom. The Oxy field has a bad habit of becoming a Lake Tahoe after a rain and if this is the case the players' uniforms will be in only partial bloom. They will burst to some extent, though, no matter what happens.

Captain Pipal expects to have a large and husky bunch out for spring practice. Many of last year's team, in fact, all who do not graduate, will appear for the preliminaries. Shipkey and Lane will be in evidence at the beginning of first season.

FRESHMEN SQUAD.
And then the freshmen, who were a sort of "iron, but not forgotten" factor in 1914, will add several likely members to the aggregation. The prospects are considered good and the Oxy students are already indicating that they have a championship collection.

The work will be very light. Most of the men, of course, are accustomed to handling the ball, but passing and kicking is to be the order of events for the first few days.

Mr. Foster, the star half-back, who has been in a broken leg for the last several months, is in good condition again and will help check the men in shape. At the beginning of the 1915 season he is expected to play the best season of his career. He will be in the game, and the threatened smash in the Oxy back field will not come off as per schedule.

FIGHT FOR QUARTER.
The fight for quarter-back position this year is going to be very much of a scrap. Lane, Foster and Brandstetter are all in line. Lane has the experience, but it may be necessary to place him in the line. Foster would probably fit in correctly, but the half combination would be hard. Brandstetter, who played quarter in prep school, and is perhaps the closest passer of the bunch, will be given a chance.

It is too early to tell, but from the looks of things Occidental will be right up among 'em.

Dope.
SAN FRANCISCO
ROAD IS FAIR.RAINS HAVEN'T SPOILED 'EM
VERY MUCH.

Paige Owner Drives Down from the Exposition City with Sports-Driving Dope on the Road Conditions on the Way from the Bay to Los Angeles.

The coast route to San Francisco is in fair condition despite the unsettled weather conditions and the showers of Tuesday night and Wednesday, says E. F. Gilmore, who returned to Los Angeles yesterday afternoon from a two-week trip to the San Francisco exposition.

Mr. Gilmore, who drives a Paige Six, left Los Angeles two weeks ago, touring to San Francisco by the valley route, which he found in fine condition. After visiting the fair and attending to some business in the north, he left San Francisco last Tuesday afternoon for a leisurely drive down the coast, stopping at Del Monte and Paso Robles and at Santa Barbara.

Mr. Gilmore arrived in Del Monte Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning continued on to Paso Robles. On Thursday he made a long trip to Santa Barbara, remaining there over Friday. Yesterday morning he drove from Santa Barbara to Los Angeles.

The state highway is completed to Bakersfield, except for a stretch of two and a half miles between Santa Clara and San Jose. From Bakersfield to San Jose the road was rough but passable. Mr. Gilmore is the opinion that the rains of Tuesday night and Wednesday morning have made this stretch very muddy.

The San Juan grade was in good condition Tuesday afternoon and would route. From San Juan to Del Monte the road is good.

The Ford of the Salinas below Bradley was mostly in place, but the road for the water was low. The road from Del Monte to Bradley was fair. Between Bradley and San Miguel construction work is going on and the road is rough and muddy.

From San Miguel into San Luis Obispo the state highway is completed. South of San Luis Obispo the best road is via Edna and Arroyo Grande to Santa Maria. The Ford of the Santa Maria was not difficult on Thursday.

South of Santa Maria the only available route is through Foxen Canyon and over the San Marcos Pass. This route is steep, but the Ford of the road is in good shape.

From Santa Barbara to Los Angeles via the Rincon Highway and Ventura, Gilmore and his car are in fine condition.

TULARE COUNTY HAS AUTO CLUB.

YRELLA, April 26.—J. O. Walker, vice-president, and Fred D. Stiel, secretary and treasurer for the organizing term of the Tulare County Automobile Association, which is affiliated with the A.A.A. W. R. Spalding, who has been acting president of the organization for the past year, refused to again become a candidate.

One of the first activities of the club for the present year will be the issuing of a bulletin which will give the general character of the roads and frequent information with regard to the general character of the roads. The bulletin will be sent to the officers of the state organization. Much new work is to be done this year in setting guide posts, particularly through the foothill district, where autoists may easily miss the main-traveled roads.

POMONA TRACK DOPE.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
CLAREMONT, April 24.—In rolling up a total score of 87 points against Occidental Saturday, the Sagehen track team came within half a point of equaling the largest total that a Pomona team ever made against the Trojans.

In 1912, the Husks scored 87½ points, and handed Occidental the worst beating ever recorded in the history of track competition between the two schools.

The Husks "came back" strong Saturday, and more than made up for the defeat suffered at the hands of the Trojans a week ago.

Coach Stanton has now set his heart upon winning the conference championship May 8. He realizes that he has a Herculean task on his hands in keeping his men on edge for the two weeks that intervene between now and the time of the conference meet.

Accordingly, he has ordered all of his athletes to break training and to shut out the world until Thursday. After this little vacation, he will work his team harder than ever until the day of the meet.

GREEN WANTS BLOOD.
Several Husks are out for revenge in the coming meet. George Green is one of them. The little Sagehen runner, who was defeated by the Trojans at Del Monte Saturday, but lost more on account of a flu than anything else, is now in the best of health and is ready to give his final effort.

Green misjudged the distance to the tape at the finish of the quarter-mile, and gave his final leap too soon, falling just before he reached the tape, with a lead of a yard over his competitor, Green will have his chance for revenge in the conference meet, and should be in the height of condition by the time.

Walter Sturges is another man who hopes to wipe out the sting of defeat by winning the mile in the conference. The little Sagehen runner, who was defeated by the Trojans at Del Monte Saturday, but lost more on account of a flu than anything else, is now in the best of health and is ready to give his final effort.

THAT BIG FISH STORY.

LOS ANGELES, April 23, 1915. Editor of The Times: In this morning's Pink Sheet, headed "Durant Answers Warden," is a communication that does not answer anybody or anything. As a sportsman, I followed this controversy, and, unless our fish and game laws are to be brought into disrepute among those who should obey them, a little more should be said.

Mr. Becker is only doing his duty as an officer. Whether this alleged catch of seven limits by Durant is a "fish story" or a fact, many people will believe that he succeeded in evading a law which the every fisherman's interest. That is a bad feeling to get about. If the story is not true, it should be denied, and if it is true, others into trying such tricks. No man has a right to "hog" these fish; they belong equally to everybody.

Mr. Durant says he is a law-abiding citizen and has respect for the same laws, yet he does not deny his previous interview. That is a poor way to abide by the law, and no way to show respect for it. Mr. Durant seems worse hurt because he thought his fishing ability was called into question than from being held up as a violator. The wreck of a fish law is a poor foundation to build a reputation as a sportsman-angler upon.

Becker is well known to me as one of the most earnest and zealous fish and game officers we have, and there is no ground for questioning his attitude in this matter whatever—or defending it. His rose and spoke a word for the majesty of the law and every right-minded man will be with him much further than his own. This is not "excess sail, jumping at conclusions or taking things for granted." Men must stand by plain, published statements unless they deny them.

It is too bad any publicity had to be given this unfortunate affair, for the good of the fish and game, the facts now should be shown up to the public.

Yours very truly,
EDWIN L. HEDDERLY.

BAYLESS LOOKS
OVER IGOROTTES.TIGER CAPTAIN THINKS MAN WHO THEROS SPEAR MAY BE PITCHER.

Dick Bayless is a loyal Venetian. The fact captain of the Tigers does more than wear one of Nap Hogan's baseball uniforms under contract. He admits that Venice is his home town and is accused of trying to recruit Hogan's command from the Igorotte village.

Clad in a speedy top-coat creation, Dick Bayless of the Tigers, yesterday showed up among the Igorottes. He listened to the ballroom chatter put out by the big fellow in a frock coat, then went inside.

"Hello, Dick!" called one of those who were a baseball fan. "What you doing in here, Dick?"

"Just looking them over," he said with a twist to his eyebrows. "Might be some good material here."

One little chap who threw the spear with great success toward Bayless' eye, "That went with the strong arm and the hesitation wind-up should be a pitcher. If he has as much stuff on the ball as the other fellows, he would be a few points lower in the batting average column."

Bayless did not care for the Igorotte version of the one-step, and the old chap with the strong arm and the hesitation wind-up should be a pitcher. If he has as much stuff on the ball as the other fellows, he would be a few points lower in the batting average column.

When the little brown savages began to prepare their spears, Bayless left. He did not like the looks of the village butcher, but the rumor was spread last night that the Tigers had an eye on a promising Igorotte pitcher.

CLUBMEN TO FORM
LIFE-GUARD CORPS.L.A.A.G. MEN TO PATROL OCEAN
PARK BEACH ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

Members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club have organized a volunteer life-saving corps. The swimming enthusiasts of the club, who spend every Sunday on the sands at Ocean Park and the club have conceived the idea of forming a life-saving organization to serve as volunteers for glory alone, during the summer in providing for the safety of the bathers.

The members of the corps are required to qualify as expert swimmers and to be able to swim a mile in ten minutes. The corps will be organized into a regular life-guard corps, and the regulars will patrol the beach on Sunday afternoon.

Robert M. Stevens, president of the club, introduced Capt. Lucie, prefacing his presentation speech with a short eulogy of the American Red Cross.

A large crowd of interested persons gathered in Immanuel Presbyterian Church last night and heard Capt. John Francis Lucie tell of conditions in Belgium and just how the American Red Cross is working to alleviate the distress there.

The meeting was given under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Chamber of Commerce Belgian Relief Commission.

A Great New Mystery Story

By

ANNA KATHARINE GREEN

begins next Sunday in our NATIONAL SUNDAY MAGAZINE and will appear in no other publication. No living writer can build a more baffling mystery than the author of "The Leavenworth Case," and she has never created a more fascinating character than Violet Strange, heroine detective, in

MISSING: PAGE THIRTEEN

Serial Story by Anna Katharine Green.
Pictures by Ernest Fuhr.

Violet Strange is called at midnight to explain the mysterious disappearance of an important page of manuscript in the Von Brocklyn mansion. It is necessary that the mystery be solved before daylight, as a great fortune, and also happiness of a beautiful girl and her fiancé, on whom rests the suspicion of the theft, are at stake. Starting thus the story moves swiftly through the first installment that foreshadows an astounding tragedy. Don't miss this short serial by the leading detective-story writer of America, published exclusively in THE NATIONAL SUNDAY MAGAZINE.

BACKLOG DAYS—THE SPELLING
BEESeen Through Funny Glasses
By Homer Croy.

Homer Croy, like Mark Twain, is from Missouri, and also like Mark Twain, is a humorist of the kind that seems to sport most vigorously in Missouri soil. Reminding about the Little Red Schoolhouse and its Friday afternoon spelling bees, the author has written a little classic of humor that will make you remember the fun of the war.

IMMIGRATION AFTER THE WAR

Editorial—By Frederic C. Howe.

Commissioner Howe refuses to be alarmed at the prospect of Europe dumping its maimed and broken soldiers into America as soon as peace is declared. Admitting that a great army of women and children, widowed and orphaned by the war, will turn their faces toward America, he foresees many forces that will not only keep immigrants at home but will lure hundreds of them from this country back to Europe.

THE MYSTERIOUS MRS. OSGOOD

Story—By Burton Kline.

Who was Mrs. Osgood? What accounted for the extraordinary influence she had on the Pennsylvania community in which she lived? Without wealth, beauty, talent or anything material that the world covets, her name was on every tongue, because—well, read why in the last paragraph of this unusual story.

THE PRACTICAL SUMMER HOME

Article and Drawings—By J. Massey Ross.

Mr. Ross, who has designed and described many houses from time to time in the magazine, discusses next Sunday a comfortable camp for $600; a $1000 summer cottage, and also a more pretentious seaside cottage of seven rooms and two sleeping porches. The plans and estimates are in every way dependable.

Among half a dozen other features in the next issue of THE NATIONAL SUNDAY MAGAZINE are ROYALTY AT CLOSE RANGE, by Adolf Baumann, for twenty years court photographer to the Kaiser and other emperors; MARGARET OF NEW ORLEANS, by L. C. Randall; ALMOND FOR HUSBANDS, A SNAKE BITE AT CLOSE RANGE, twenty New Windows of help to housekeepers, and a story-telling cover design by Charles A. MacLellan, reproduced in color.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
PARADISE, April 27.—In writing to her mother and sister of her experience in Kiev, Russia, where she has been the nurse of the Red Cross Hospital, Helen Scott Hay, the Paradise nurse, gives a different view of the character of the Czar of Russia than has been the general impression.

After her general impression of the Czar, she says, she was in company with two other American nurses on an interview with the Czar, long ago. She was touched by his kindness in his face and his simple manner.

The meeting took place at a public reception held at the station, where she was invited by the Czar to meet him. He was late, but asked to be forgiven and showed plainly that he regretted causing anyone inconvenience.

He was overwhelmed with his guests, and he was very kind and considerate for his suffering soldiers. He said, he declared, his for his people could never forget.

While waiting a hospital where lay some very critically wounded, he was with the eyes of the Russian soldiers, and he was very kind and considerate for his suffering soldiers.

He did this and he looked up into their faces, and he was very kind and considerate for his suffering soldiers. He said, he declared, his for his people could never forget.

CANNED TUNA FUTURES BRING ON PRICE WAR.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, April 26.—A price war on canned tuna is now on that will cost the packers between half a million and a million dollars, according to the estimates of the season, if it continues to be quoted for the 1915 season, as has been the case for the past several years.

The war was started by some of the packers who have new and smaller canneries than the large established firms. Some of these canneries were started largely as stock promotion schemes, and experienced canneries have predicted that these will not be able to weather the storm in the market.

It is the opinion of Chief of Police Wilson that this is not true, as there seems to be no proof. It was stated by the Chief of Police that from lack of evidence there can be no action taken in the matter by the government officials.

An attempt was made by Mayor O'Neill today to have the eight-seas autos that carry tourists to the Juanes Islands, which were being used as a means of holding responsible for the safety of their passengers. The matter was referred by the Council to the police department.

Mary Purcell, who with Selma, Prot. took to town while in the jail here after the Juanes Islands, was able to leave for her home in Los Angeles, accompanied by her mother, last night.

BLAME ACCIDENT.

Relatives of Harry Odgers of No. 12 South De Lacy street, who was arrested in Judge McDonald's Police Court yesterday on a serious charge of manslaughter, blame the accident for alleged peculiar behavior on his part.

While in court yesterday they said that he had not been well since he was injured in the motorcycle accident several months ago. Pending his trial, which has been set for April 29 at 2:30 o'clock, Odgers is locked up in the County Jail. His bail was fixed at $2500.

The alleged crime is said to have been committed in the old Pasadena playground on West Colorado street. When Mrs. W. G. Burr of No. 165 North Vernon avenue saw Odgers take the little child back of a clump of bushes she was alarmed for the child's safety, and, summoning her husband, they made an investigation.

After taking the little one home they communicated with the Pasadena police. He was identified by the child and her mother. The child said to have been playing with a number of other children when Odgers is accused of kidnapping him to some extent to accompany him to the playground. After giving her money with which to buy candy, it is presumed he was frightened away, as he did not accompany his alleged purpose. Odgers, clear himself of the serious charge, is a carpenter and is 35 years old. The officers and Judge McDonald refused to divulge the name of the little girl.

SEEKING A BRIDE.

Because he was born in California and knows how to value the native girl, Fred Wagner of Amarillo, Tex., who, by the terms of his will, must be married within eight months to inherit certain property, has written to the Pasadena City Commission asking his assistance in securing for him a life partner.

Wagner writes that his father died four months ago, and unless he marries within a year after the death he will be cut off from the estate, which will go to a charitable institution. The property consists of a modern city house and a well-stocked ranch, and in perfect health.

PICKS CASKET BEFORE DEATH.

Redondo Beach Woman Faces Her End Calmly.

Lives Month Without Food; Takes Opium.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

REDONDO BEACH, April 26.—In the funeral today of Mrs. V. O. Roberts was closed the final chapter of a pathetic preparation for the inevitable. Mrs. Roberts, who knew that death was near, had kept alive for twenty-eight days without any food. The only things by which she was sustained were opium and a number of pills.

When physicians first announced that the end was near twenty-eight days before her death, Mrs. Roberts asked that they do all in their power to keep her alive until she could have time to prepare a shroud and pick out a casket.

First Mrs. Roberts, who was the wife of a local merchant, had the undertaker called to her bedside with pictures of caskets. From the lot, after a careful selection, she pointed out the one she desired. Then several women friends were called to prepare her shroud. During the making of this Mrs. Roberts repeatedly inquired the work and offered her criticisms.

While work on the shroud was progressing she selected the ministers she wished to officiate at her funeral. She was a member of the Baptist Church, and she had been a member of the Methodist Church and the Episcopal Church.

These tasks were completed last week and Saturday. Mrs. Roberts breathed her last. At her death she revived the romantic history of her life with her first husband, a Frenchman, a hypnotist, who shot himself five years ago at Santa Barbara. It was said at the time that he felt extreme remorse because his use of his wife as a "subject" resulted in her contracting cancer, which ultimately resulted in her death.

SUES OFFICERS FOR HER ARREST.

DEMANDS DAMAGES BECAUSE SHE WAS CONFINED IN FILTHY CELLS.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

BAKERSFIELD, April 26.—Mrs. Eva J. Robinson, sometimes known as Peiky, has filed action for $15,000 damages against Special Officers J. J. Deuel and John Lang, employed by the late grand jury. Constable McSmith, County Probation Officer Badger and a number of deputies for alleged false imprisonment.

Mrs. Robinson has been in Bakersfield many years and has worked during part of the time as a hair-dresser. Last January she and another woman rented a house on Kentucky street in the heart of the residence district of East Bakersfield and established a so-called "reticulated" club. On the night of February 5 the officers raided the place and arrested the two women on vagrancy charges. On trial they were found not guilty by jury.

Mrs. Robinson's complaint alleges that she was arrested without probable cause and was thrown into a filthy, unsanitary cell, where she was kept for twenty-eight days with several negroes charged with vagrancy. She further charges that her daughter, who was about to be married, was driven by the humiliation of the arrest to have the wedding elsewhere.

At the trial there was considerable evidence introduced to show the character of the so-called "reticulated" club. Former Dist. Atty. Irwin and his late deputy, Thomas Scott, Jr., are attorneys for Mrs. Robinson.

San Gabriel. BELIES NAME. BUT GOOD CITIZENS ARE CLEANING UP ITS REPUTATION FOR SOBRIETY.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

SAN GABRIEL, April 26.—"The melancholy days have come" for the thirty-one in this vicinity, who are finding it none "too cold for whisky and not too hot for beer," but so hot for the blind piggeries that only the bravest dare to relieve their thirst as a result of the raiding party being vigorously conducted by Marshal A. E. Manzer and his men on the alleged joints.

Last night the Marshal and his men arrested Mrs. Gorgonia Medina for quenching the thirst of many contrary to law, and Felipe Mandarano was also taken in charge for gambling, which has been proved, while his penchant for fire-water is strongly suspected.

Today a large Los Angeles grocery company received a severe jolt when one of their drivers was taken in charge for delivering beer at a local joint. The driver, who had been warned several times, but had not heeded the injunction.

San Gabriel is a quiet little city tonight. The speak-easies are all dark, even the one where the old washerwoman stood watch. It is alleged, while there are under two beds that may be pulled apart at the patrons' pleasure the trap door leads to a lower room where a good supply of liquor for the initiated.

The washerwoman is no longer on the job, and the trap door has been sprung, while the vigilance of the officers is being rewarded with more than one citizen dealing in the unlawful traffic.

JITNEY DRIVEN IN JAIL.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

MONROVIA, April 26.—Walter C. O'Connell, a Los Angeles jitney-bus driver, was given 30 or 40 days today by Judge Burr when he pleaded guilty to reckless driving in the Monrovia Canyon Park. Not having the necessary five spot, O'Connell cheerfully decided to spend the five days in jail.

He ventured the hope that some of his friends will come and pay his fine. He gave his address as No. 150 North Townsend, and he has been arrested three times and has been arrested three times in Los Angeles for violation of the traffic ordinance.

Believes State has no Right to Collect for Offense Against City Ordinance—City Attorney Gives Advice to Council—Council Shows Peculiar Things.

LONG BEACH, April 26.—Throwing down the gauntlet to the State and county authorities over the control of streets within this municipality, City Attorney Kapp today indicated that he would advise the City Council to resist the attempt of the State to collect, through the county, fines for violation of speed laws here.

Attorney Kapp is of the opinion that the State has no jurisdiction over local highways.

"Long Beach is a chartered city, and the only law we recognize is that of the control of streets is that vested in the charter, guaranteed by the State Constitution itself. Under the terms of the City Constitution we do not believe that the State authorities have the power of control over our streets, and therefore the county cannot legally take the fines collected from violators of the speed laws," said Mr. Kapp today.

Long Beach is not the only city hit hard by the ruling of the county council and State authorities that all fines must be turned over to the State through the county. Pasadena is forty showings of inclination to resist, and Pomona may join these two cities in resisting the order of the county.

BEACH BRIEF.

The collection of the city council has been completed, and although the names have not yet been counted, it is estimated that the count will show a total of 12,000 men, women and children in this city. There are 487 Smiths in the city, 111 Browns, 115 Mills, 174 Joneses, 115 Johnsons, 115 Davises and 145 Williamses. The Chamber of Commerce may appropriate $250 for the county districts outside the city, which action would add probably $4000 to the city's budget.

Saturday morning the formal opening of the big racing season on the new Campbell pier will be held. On Wednesday the pier will be thoroughly tested out, and on the opening day city officials and others will be given rides. The cost of the coaster is reported as $75,000.

TREASURERS HELD LIABLE FOR MONEY PAID ALIENS?

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

RIVERSIDE, April 26.—City Treasurer P. A. Gussolus, to say nothing of the other city treasurers and the county treasurers of the State, finds himself confronted with a remarkable condition of affairs in the light of an opinion filed by City Attorney W. G. Irving with reference to the payment of public moneys to aliens.

The City Attorney holds that the act of 1901, which has recently been interpreted as applying to teachers who are not native born or naturalized citizens, applies with equal force to all employees in the service of the State, or any county or city in the State.

Accordingly, it is held that the City Treasurer and his bondsmen are responsible under the law for the payment of any city money to aliens, a number of whom have been in the employ of the street department for years, and to a certain extent in other departments.

The opinion, which with the filing of this opinion City Treasurer Gussolus has received a statement signed by the City Attorney, stating that it is a violation of the law to pay out city money to persons other than native born or naturalized citizens, and warning him not to pay out any further money for labor to aliens after May 1.

"I shall abide by the law," said Mr. Gussolus, when asked regarding the opinion. He did not know yet what he shall hold up the warrants for this month's pay, which falls due in May, or only for money earned after that date.

Street Superintendent Darling is of the opinion that this interpretation of the law will work a great hardship on his department, in that he has a corps of Mexican trainees for various classes of work which it has been found difficult in the past to secure while men to perform. The work, he believes, will be materially increased in consequence.

IN ACCORD FOR PEACE.

Women's Congress in Session.

Delegates from Belligerent and Neutral Countries Insist on Ending War.

Germany Permits Five Belgian Ladies to Attend the Conference.

Fifty-one Americans and Two from England are in the Assemblage.

THE HAGUE, April 27 (via London) April 27, 10:10 p.m.—Forty-two delegates from the United States to the International Women's Peace Congress, who had been held on the steamer Nordam because of Great Britain's order stopping traffic to Holland, arrived here today.

The delegates reached The Hague in time for the opening meeting of the congress tonight at which an earnest desire to bring the world war to a conclusion and insure a durable peace was strongly expressed by delegates belonging to both belligerent and neutral nations.

Besides the 184 Dutch delegates, the gathering, which was presided over by Aletta Jacobs, comprised fifty-one women from America, three from Austria, nine from Denmark, five from Belgium (who arrived by special permission of the German military authorities), nine from Hungary, twelve from Sweden, fifteen from Norway, twelve from Germany, two from Great Britain and one each from Chile, Armenia, Italy and Canada.

A thrill of greeting was delivered by Anita Augspurg of Munich. Mrs. Tullberg of Denmark, Katherine Courtney of London, Olga Bauer of Vienna, Anna Kienan of Stockholm, Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews of Boston, Vilma Glaschick of Budapest, Kollan Genet of Milan, Dr. Kellian of Norway and Miss Boissevain of Amsterdam.

A thrill seemed to stir the audience as the women of the various nations uttered sympathetic references to the sorrows and hardships of other nations as they spoke.

Anita Augspurg aroused the enthusiasm of the delegates when she declared that womanly feelings were above all race hatred and that the German women stretched out their hands for friendship and international love.

Miss Courtney reciprocated with the assurance that English women recognized that the women of other nations as sisters were heartily thankful to the neutral nations for calling the gathering, that all women in their hearts wished for peace.

This was the first time when the women of the world as an organized body had been to a position to make themselves heard in an effort to bring the great war to an end. Miss Courtney continued and the women were now going to say what they thought of the world.

Anita Augspurg also disparaged race hatred, saying the women should help each other with sympathy and understanding and to wage a war which the women had not sought but which had caused them great suffering.

Miss Andrews said never before had she such faith in the power of women to effect a great purpose. Every woman in the United States, she declared, sympathized with the objects of the congress.

Vilma Glaschick, one of the Hungarian delegates, argued that women would not be worthy of "their comrades' franchise" unless they proved that they were doing something to abolish the war.

An address which held her auditors spellbound was delivered by Signorina Genet, the sole Italian delegate. Speaking in French and with great earnestness, she said she saw the horrors of war impending in Italy. The men who were starving because of the stoppage of trade, demanded to be sent to the front to fight, where they would be certain to obtain food, she said. Even the Italian Peace Society had declared in favor of war. But the women of Italy were praying against such a calamity befalling them.

Dozens of messages from every country, except Belgium, were read by Dr. Boissevain.

Dr. Aletta Jacobs in her speech of welcome, said:

"We who convened this congress never called it a peace congress, but an international congress of women to protest against the war, and to discuss ways and means by which we shall become an impossibility in the future."

Dr. Jacobs added that one of the most powerful means to attain this end would be the introduction of woman suffrage in all countries.

The congress was held in the Zoological Gardens.

BRITAIN PRUNES PEACE ENVOYS.

LONDON, April 27.—No fewer than 110 British women applied for permits to attend the peace congress at The Hague, but at the behest of the Foreign Office the list was weeded out to a maximum of twenty-four. Even these are still in England.

Reginald McKenna, the Home Secretary, said:

MULTI-MILLIONAIRE WIDOW PLANS TOUR OF ESTATE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LEXINGTON (Ky.) April 27.—Mrs. James B. Haggin, the richest woman in the South, widow of the California-Kentucky-New York multi-millionaire, who died last September, has arrived at her home here on the first leg of a journey that will take her nearly a year to accomplish, and which will extend over every bit of the $30,000,000 estate of her husband. Mrs. Haggin will spend two weeks here at her 15,000-acre Elmendorf farm, during which time she will take a complete inventory of the estate.

Mrs. Haggin will visit the Rancho Del Paso first, remaining there until she has gone over all the details of that magnificent estate. Then she will take the mining and other interests she has there in turn, visiting them all and securing first-hand information as to their operations. Afterward she will visit for a time in Los Angeles, going from there to San Francisco, where she will view the exposition.

Mrs. Haggin will sail from San Francisco about September 1, for Honolulu, and there and other places in the Hawaiian Islands she will look over the extensive holdings of her estate. From Hawaii she will go to Chile, Brazil and Argentina, where in the latter years her deceased husband invested large sums. In the latter part of the tour she will visit the farming interests. From South America she may go to England and Haggin estate has some holdings in these countries, particularly England.

FIGHTING LESS ACTIVE IN THE CARPATHIANS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

VIENNA, April 27 (via Amsterdam, London, April 28, 1:15 a.m.)—The following official communication was issued today:

"Nowhere over the whole front have events of any special importance been reported. In several sectors the fighting has been less active. In the Carpathians the Russians suspended their attacks against our positions after having suffered severe losses."

ALLIES ARE ADVANCING IN TURKISH TERRITORY.

Vital Struggle for the Possession of Calais is Still in Progress.

Conflicting Reports from Official Sources on the Trend of Events on the Gallipoli Peninsula and in Flanders. British Warned that the Germans are by no Means at the End of Their String.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 27, 11:47 p.m.—A joint War Office and Admiralty statement issued tonight on the Dardanelles operations says:

"After days of hard fighting in a difficult country the troops landed on Gallipoli peninsula are thoroughly making good their footing with the effective help of the navy. The French have taken 500 prisoners."

The statement appends the following, which it says is officially published at Cairo:

"Allied forces under Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton have effected a landing on both sides of the Dardanelles under excellent conditions. Many prisoners have been taken and our forces are continuing their advance."

PARIS, April 27, 10:27 p.m.—The following official communication was issued by the War Office tonight:

"To the North of Ypres our progress continues, as well as that of the British army. We have taken a number of prisoners and have captured a quantity of material, including bomb throwers and machine guns."

"On the front of Les Eparges—St. Remy—Trench of Calonne, the German attacks have been completely repulsed. At one point of the front alone an officer estimates the killed at nearly a thousand. We have taken the offensive and are making progress."

"At Hartmannsweilerkopf, after having retained the summit, we advanced for a distance of 200 meters down the eastern slopes."

LONDON, April 27, 10:30 p.m.—On the narrow, rocky Gallipoli peninsula in Turkey and on a restricted front stretching northward from Ypres in Belgium, two of the most vital struggles of the war are now in progress. Neither struggle has yet reached a stage which would permit of a prediction of the ultimate result.

In the Gallipoli peninsula a strenuous movement of allied troops landed Sunday, supported by the fire of the warships and are trying to batter their way through thousands of German-officer Turks in an effort to force the Dardanelles—the main gateway of the Ottoman Empire—and reach Constantinople.

According to the British claim, the attack is progressing, but a Turkish communication received tonight declares that, although the allies landed forces at four points, these forces are being beaten back to the sea, while the Moslems in the French ranks are deserting the tri-color and casting their lot with the sultan.

Equally contradictory are the official statements concerning the fighting in the vicinity of Ypres. It would appear that the German offensive north of that city which resulted in their recent gain of nearly seven miles has reached its limit, and that, although the Germans hold most of the ground they gained, the question now is whether they have sufficiently consolidated the new line to retain it.

The rush over the British troops are now said to have taken the offensive and are striving toward the German lines. The Germans captured the British line, but the British are now said to have taken the offensive and are striving toward the German lines.

Some sections of the British press profess the belief that the crisis in the new battle, or series of battles, for the French coast, has passed, but others are of the opinion that the end is not yet.

"Fate of Calais still hangs in the balance," says the Evening News. "The Germans are not disheartened. They are not starving and they are capable of a great sustained offensive in Flanders."

TURKISH OFFICIAL REPORT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 27 (via Amsterdam and London, 8:05 p.m.)—The Turkish War Department today gave out the following official statement:

"Under the protection of warships the enemy attempted to land troops Sunday at the point of the bayonet and were pushed back to the coast. Part of these forces on Monday night were obliged to return to their ships. The Turkish attacks at all points were progressing successfully."

"Simultaneously a fleet approached the Dardanelles in order to force the sea against the Dardanelles today."

LONDON'S OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 27, 1:50 p.m.—The following report from Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British forces at the front, under today's date, was given out here today:

"Yesterday all German attacks northeast of Ypres were repulsed. In the afternoon our troops took the offensive and made progress near St. Julien and to the west of that place. The French co-operated on our left and farther to the north they retook Het Sas."

GERMAN HEADQUARTER'S REPORT.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN, April 27 (via wireless to London, 3:55 p.m.)—The German army headquarters today gave out the following statement dealing with the military operations of yesterday:

"In the western theater: The British attacked in Flanders with very strong forces the new line of our positions north and northeast of Ypres, which runs from three to four kilometers south of the previous line from close to the north of Deuchoud Farm, on the Yser Canal, by way of St. Julien, in the direction of Grafenstafel."

"These assaults, which partly were attacked in the rear by German artillery southeast of Ypres, completely broke down under our fire, with extraordinary heavy losses."

"The enemy's fire completely de-

THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD.

Invites Strangers.

The Los Angeles Central W.C.T.U. invites strangers to its meeting Friday at 3 p.m. in Temperance Temple, No. 281 North Broadway.

Manual Arts Senior Reception.

The Manual Arts Alumni Association will hold a reception at the school Friday evening in honor of the senior class. All members of the alumni are expected.

Candidates Meeting.

The Women's Million Club will hold a municipal candidates' meeting at its headquarters, room 312 Coulter Building, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Candidates are invited to appear and show cause why they should be elected.

Here for the Convention.

Miss Elvira A. Gordon, executive secretary of the San Francisco Y.W.C.A., is here to attend the biennial convention of the association, May 1-10. She is the guest of Miss Elizabeth Workman, No. 257 South Avenue.

To Choose Railway Official.

A successor to the late W. H. Bancroft as first vice-president of the San Diego and San Bernardino Railway will be chosen Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the directors in the company's office at the Pacific Electric building. The call for this meeting was issued yesterday.

Bisonians on Tour.

On an extended tour of the State, 115 Bisonians arrived at noon yesterday from San Diego and proceeded immediately to Pasadena. The party will remain here until Friday, seeing the sights of the Southland. The trip is under the direction of Raymond A. Whitcomb.

Coming to Saengerfest.

Traveling by special train, 125 representatives of the United German Societies of Greater New York will arrive here July 26 to participate in the International Saengerfest, according to advice received yesterday by the Bismarck Club. The party will visit both exhibitions.

Benefit for Mrs. Poulain.

A musical benefit will be given this evening at the Elks Club House for Mrs. Lucie Poulain, one of the well-known members of the American colony in Paris. She has one son in the trenches, another serving in a German concentration camp, and a husband dying of pneumonia. The affair will be concluded with a dance.

Held Day Excursion.

Reservations for the Chamber of Commerce's excursion to Fresno for Rain Day must be made by this evening, according to Secretary Wiggins. Both the chamber and the 1915 General Committee of Los Angeles city and county will have one car in the north for the observance, which will include a mammoth street parade and a concert at Fresno. The excursion party will leave here Thursday and return Saturday morning.

Miss Walker, Queen.

Miss Helen Walker, who has been a member of the Y.W.C.A. gym classes for seven years, is to be queen of the Spring Festival to be given by the association Friday evening. The affair will be chiefly remarkable for the variety of dancing to be seen. There will be Mexican, Polish, military, national, American social, athletic, seasonal, English and fairy dances. The association further announces that it has been necessary to close the list for the Fellowship Supper, to be given at Shrine Auditorium May 3, at 1900 instead of 1890 names. Friday evening will be the last chance to get tickets for this affair.

Fun Outcomes, News and Old.

This evening at 8 o'clock in the assembly hall of the Los Angeles High School the graduating exercises for the April class of citizens admitted last week will be held. Presiding Judge Wood will present the certificate. Mrs. E. D. Taylor, president of the Federated Parent-Teacher Association, will preside. Supt. Francis will make the address of welcome. Mrs. John David Best will sing a solo, and the McKinley-avenue school orchestra, led by Miss Ayers, will be heard. Nearly fifty had taken the course in citizenship and were admitted on school diploma. Responses will be made by the new citizens. All citizens are invited.

Attack Gloom and Pessimism.

Having in a month accomplished very much in the way of serious business, the Los Angeles Cafe and Restaurant Men's Association will give over one evening to pleasure Friday night at the Westminster. The affair will be in the nature of a grand battle with the spirits of gloom and pessimism. Every effort will be made to rout them perpetually. A Dutch lugeon will precede the entertainment, which will include the star numbers from various cabarets, boxing contests, and similar events. B. D. Lockard is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Travel Lecture.

Tomorrow evening Dr. Lyman Beecher Sperry, lecturer on travel topics, will give an illustrated talk at the Y.M.C.A. on "Australia and New Zealand." A silver offering will be received.

Woman Killed by Train.

Mrs. Angeline Rangel, a Mexican woman, 22 years old, was killed yesterday afternoon when she was pulled beneath a train of moving freight cars in the Southern Pacific yards. She lived in a section house near by.

To Discuss Bus Problem.

The jitney bus problem and its solution will be the subject of a public discussion tomorrow evening in Symphony Hall in which City Attorney Stephens, Norman S. Sterry, trial lawyer for the Los Angeles Railway Corporation, and E. L. Williams, secretary of the Bus Owners' Association, will participate. The discussion has been arranged by the Southwestern University Public Forum Committee, and is free.

Sales Managers Poly High Guests.

The Los Angeles division of the National Sales Manager Association of America will meet in a body tonight at the Polytechnic High School and, after partaking of a dinner to be served by the students at 6:30 p.m., will make a survey of the various activities of the night school. Each sales manager is supposed to bring his wife or sweetheart, and from previous indications there will be a record gathering. President Fethama of the association promises the members a surprise.

PERSONALS

Duncan Robinson, a wealthy retired real-estate operator of Boston, is at the Clark. He is accompanied by Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. W. O'Dell, who have been touring the State in their machine, arrived at their destination yesterday from San Diego on their return journey to San Francisco.

Dr. W. P. McNally, a practicing physician at Bangor, Me., is staying at the Rossmore. Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Newkirk, accompanied by their children, Mrs. Grace and Mrs. Clara, are at the same hotel. Mr. Newkirk is a Denver banker.

H. B. Walker, a real estate operator of Vancouver, accompanied by his family, is occupying a suite at the Angelus. W. J. Schickel of Panama, N. J., a manufacturer of machinery, is a guest at the same hotel.

F. D. Barie arrived at the Hollenbeck yesterday at the head of a party of ten tourists from Monterey, California. A few days here they will go to San Diego and San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lyons are guests at the Hollenbeck. Mr. Lyons is a well-known horseman and much interested in the revival of racing in this State.

WHY THIS JUMP?

REDLANDS, April 27.—The drugists of this city are wondering whether the entire country has set out on a spring housecleaning because of the way in which prices of month hales, wholesale, have been jumping in the past week. In less than two weeks the quotations of the wholesale houses to the druggists here have jumped from 4 1/2 cents a pound to 14 cents a pound. And this comes just at the time when the housewives are making a big demand for the month hales in which to salt away the winter fashions, woolsens, furs and such like. The dealers here have not discovered the cause for the big jump.

BUSINESS BRIEVITIES

The Times offers to women's clubs and societies, State societies and to other civic, charitable and patriotic organizations, the use of sanitary, well-lighted and furnished Committee Rooms and Assembly Halls in the Times Building, First and Broadway, without any expense whatever. Applications for the use of these rooms should be accompanied by proper credentials from worthy organizations. For further information, apply to N. Martin, Business Office, The Times Building.

For quick action drop answers to Times "liners" in Times liner boxes in downtown office buildings. The boxes of the Times are printed in the first column of The Times "liner" section.

Removal Notice: John D. Clark, permanent contractor, for many years at 227 Story Bldg., now located at 902 227th Bldg.
